THE CLERGY, STAFF AND LEADERSHIP
OF ADAT SHALOM
WISH YOU A HAPPY, HEALTHY AND KOSHER PESACH

Welcome, Michael Wolf

Our synagogue has created a new full-time position, Director of Spirituality and Outreach, DSO, and we are happy to announce that effective July 1, 2017, Michael Wolf will be joining the synagogue in that capacity.

Michael is “excited beyond belief to be coming to work at Adat Shalom.” He started reading Torah on Shabbat here almost two years ago and shared that he is “thrilled to be part of such a caring and welcoming community.” Having experience in both informal and formal Jewish education, he is choosing to come back to “Synagogue life,” recognizing that “Adat Shalom is truly a special place that is committed to our traditions while remaining open to creative possibilities...”

Academically and professionally, Michael brings experience and expertise. He has a Masters in Jewish Communal Service with a concentration in Jewish Education from Brandeis University, and a B.A. in Religious Studies with a certificate in Jewish Studies from the University of Pittsburgh. He has held the positions of Director of Education and Youth at Congregation Shaarey Zedek, Director of Camp Ramah in Canada and, most recently, Director of Programming at Hillel Day School.

Please join us in welcoming Michael, his wife Betsy, and their four children, Shira, Ilana, Jonah and Adena to our Adat Shalom family!

FROM THE PRESIDENT HAPPY PASSOVER TO US ALL

JUST A FEW WEEKS AGO we enjoyed our major annual synagogue fundraiser, Missebaba 2017. It was an overwhelming success with thanks going out to the planning committee, headed by Joan Chernoff Epstein and her sister Attendees commented on the delicious and plentiful food prepared and served by Quality Kosher Catering. The night was full of wonderful musical entertainment by Bluewater Kings Band, and the room filled with people making it very warm and inviting. Those of you who joined us can attest to the fun evening, and to those who made a donation... thank you. A synagogue is there for celebrations and for challenges; this was a good time. Next year when walking around the room, I look forward to seeing you here.

In just a few weeks we will celebrate Pesach, a holiday filled with traditions and customs. It is a time for families to come together, not just to eat but to reminisce. To remember and ask questions...it is all about the questions. The wise son asks, "What are these testimonies, statutes, and laws which the Lord

FROM HAZZAN GROSS TAL - A PRAYER FOR DEW

HAZZAN GROSS

I HAVE A CONFESSION to make: some of the most powerful moments of prayer in my life have not been in the synagogue. I am sure many of you share this admission as well. Many of my most deeply felt interactions with God have been inspired when I am at the ocean. There is something about the vastness of this body of water that opens my heart to a divine dialogue.

Water is the one natural element that our ancestors integrated into our liturgy. In the arid climate of the land of Israel, water was never a given, and prayers for water were at the forefront of the daily liturgy. Water is also a symbol for life and this is evident from its placement in the prayer structure. The prayer for water is found in the second blessing of the Amidah — the succession of blessings, numbering seven to nineteen depending on the day or holiday. In this blessing, we praise God for being the source of life and we insert the phrase mashiv haruach umorid hagashem, "who causes the wind to blow and the rain to fall." We say this phrase during the time period from Simchat Torah in the fall up until Pesach. Then on the first day of Pesach, we include a special prayer during the Musaf service called Tal, which means "Dew." The rainy season in Israel is now over,

FROM RABBI BERGMAN

RABBI BERGMAN

They cannot free themselves. I thought that this was a problem that was far from us. It is something that happens right in our own neighborhoods, and we might not even know.

STOP SLAVERY IN OUR DAY

THERE ARE MORE SLAVES IN THE WORLD today than there ever were in ancient Egypt. There are more slaves in the United States alone than there were Hebrew slaves freed in the Exodus story. Human trafficking, the kidnapping and selling of women, men and especially children, is an epidemic so vast that I was staggered to learn of the details.

It never occurred to me that human trafficking is a problem even in Oakland County. There are people kidnapped from their homes, and forced into servitude just a few miles away. Their families cannot find them.

FROM RABBI SHERE TOWARD THE LIGHT

THIS MONTH, EACH OF US will sit down to a seder and recount the story of the Exodus. Included in the narrative, of course, are the ten plagues. Tradition teaches that the plagues got worse as they went on; while it is easy to see that the tenth plague, the death of the firstborn, was clearly the worst, I sometimes wonder what was so awful about the ninth plague, darkness?

Our Sages answer this question by teaching that the darkness which affected the lives of the Egyptians was not a physical darkness, but rather a spiritual darkness. When the plague is described in the Torah it says, "It was so dark that a person couldn't see his fellow." It's one thing to suffer, but something else to feel completely alone in your suffering. The Egyptians had already experienced eight debilitating plagues — imagine how difficult it must have been to sit helplessly and watch as one affliction after another devastated their property, their livestock, and their health. And yet, the Torah tells us, they couldn't see each other's pain. Each person was so caught up in his own suffering that he couldn't see the pain of his neighbor. The Torah goes on to say that throughout the three-day plague of darkness, "for the Jews, there was light." What does this mean? Despite our ancestors' suffering, they found a way to show love and concern for each other so that no individual carried the burden of slavery alone. No matter how powerful the darkness looms, when we see each other in and through our pain, we make our way, together, toward the light.

FROM RABBI YOSKOWITZ WHEN MEDICINE WENT MAD

THIS YEAR MARKS THE 70TH ANNIVERSARY of the Doctors' Trial in Nuremberg and the publication of the Nuremberg Code which established the ethical guidelines for human experimentation. This 70th anniversary of the Doctors' Trial and of the Nuremberg Code should be an important focus for us on Holocaust Remembrance Day, April 23-24, when we reflect on Nazi doctors as killers and how we can maintain a society in which healers remain healers and all life is respected.

At the Doctors' Trial in 1947, Nazi physicians testified in a very calm manner that Jews and others were killed because they did not fit the definition of a perfect society. In the words of Zygmundt Bauman's "Modernity and the Holocaust" (1989) "their killing was not the work of destruction, but creation. They were eliminated so that an objectively

"Selling" Your Chametz

The ownership of chametz (leavened food) during Pesach is prohibited in the Torah. For those who wish to adhere to this tradition, Adat Shalom will be happy to arrange for the contractual (virtual) sale of your chametz to a non-Jew for the duration of the Pesach holiday. According to this contract, your ownership of your chametz will end at 10 a.m. on 14 Nisan (April 10) and will be restored at 9 p.m. on 23 Nisan (April 18).

You may arrange to sell your chametz beginning Monday, March 27, through 8:30 a.m. on the morning of Monday, April 10. To do so, you may email your name and address to be added to the contract (email Caren Harwood at charwood@adatshalom.org), or you may come in personally to sign the papers. To sign in person, please see Carly Rosen at minyan (M, T, W, Th, F mornings and Sun, M, W, Th evenings) or Caren Harwood during weekday business hours.

It is customary, but not necessary, to make a contribution to the synagogue for requesting that we act as the agent for the sale of your chametz. If you wish to do so, we suggest a $20 donation to Adat Shalom's Minyan Breakfast Fund.

Siyum HaB'khor - Monday, April 10

The Concluding Study Session

with Rabbi Bergman

7:30 a.m. - Shacharit Service and Siyum

Jews commemorate the sparing of the Hebrew first-born sons in the Pesach story by concluding the study of a section of Jewish text the morning of the first Seder (or the previous day if the Seder falls on Shabbat). From the Middle Ages on, prominent rabbis have stated that first-born daughters should attend the siyum as well. At Adat Shalom, all members of your family, whatever their birth order, are invited to join in the siyum and the deluxe chametz breakfast that follows.

Chametz Breakfast Buffet followed by a "bonfire" for the burning of your chametz

If you would like to be a co-sponsor of this special breakfast in honor of your firstborn and other children, please contact Denise Gallagher in the office at 248-851-5100, ext. 221 or email dgallagher@adatshalom.org.

It's almost Pesach. Can you use a little help?

Cooking and cleaning aside, family concerns are uppermost for some of us as we prepare for the holiday. Fortunately, our Jewish community has excellent helping agencies and access to others across the country.

To support their efforts, and to make information easily accessible, Adat Shalom's Tikkun Adat provides an extensive rack of brochures in the ladies' lounge.

Women are encouraged to check out the display for a wide range of services in our area and beyond, and to share the information with those they care about.

Some of the issues covered in the display:

- Caring for an elderly parent
- Acquiring a loan
- Searching for a job
- Confronting domestic abuse
- Helping a child with adjustment issues
- Making Jewish texts available to those with vision problems
- Providing support to cancer survivors
- And more... much more.

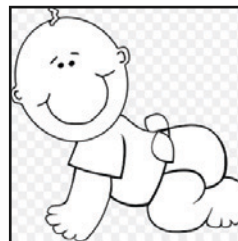

Go ahead and take a look. You'll see it's almost like having a personal advisor.

Got Room For One More?

Everyone deserves a seat at the Passover table. But if they're alone, it may be tough to find one.

So, if you have room at your seder for another guest—someone you may have greeted at Shabbat services – why not extend an invitation?

And if you're that someone who would enjoy being with others for a seder, don't be shy. Say yes.

Pesach Baby on Board

Babies and baskets... sound like something you read in the Haggadah?

Well, if your family has one of the former, our Adat Shalom baby basket brigade can provide one of the latter.

You don't have to wait until Passover to let Charm Levine know there's a newcomer to your family. She'll update her list for the next special delivery of gifts to delight both baby and parents.

MEN'S CLUB MUSINGS... BY ALAN CHANDROSS

Shalom!

Our March calendar was full of excitement, with one of our signature events, the Daddy Daughter Dance, taking center stage. I was excited to meet many new and familiar faces, and am glad so many of you were able to come out and share the fun with your daughters. It was - as always - a truly special event, and I'm proud we're able to bring it to you each year. I'd like to especially thank Mike Weil for chairing this event, supported by many committee members who all made it a great success.

On April 2 we'll be visiting MSU to have dinner with our students. On April 15, we'll be giving the Sisterhood a well-earned day off from their tireless kiddush duties, by serving kiddush for Passover (volunteers welcome!!!). And on April 23 we'll be having bagels with Rabbi Bergman, who will be speaking on the Holocaust on that Sunday morning. For all of our members, we'll be having our yearly open board meeting and elections on April 30 to elect our new officers and formally close out the year's events.

Reach out to me at any time with praises, pans, or ponderings!

B'shalom,

Alan / achandross@gmail.com

JEWISH FAMILY EDUCATION

Family Education programs are endowed in memory of Jeanette & Oscar Cook

This April, we will celebrate our freedom as a Jewish people when we observe Passover; about a week afterwards, we will remember those who died during the Holocaust. While there are many resources available that provide ideas and suggestions of how to make this eight-day Passover holiday family-friendly and relatable to those of all ages and abilities, it is much more difficult to explain Yom Hashoah to children.

Each year on the eve of the 27 of Nisan (this year April 23), we light yellow yahrzeit candles (available in the synagogue office thanks to Men's Club) and remember those who perished in the Holocaust.

It is both difficult for adults to explain and for youth to understand. However, there are many books written on various reading and developmental levels to help initiate conversation and provide some information.

Lower Elementary (K-5th Grade)

The Yellow Star, by Carmen Agra Deedy: Nazi soldiers came to occupy Denmark and the King was determined to protect all Danish people.

The Story of Anne Frank, by Brenda Ralph Lewis: Anne Frank was a 13-year-old who went into hiding from the Nazis with her family in 1942. This is the story of her life, death, and legacy.

Keeping the Promise: A Torah's Journey, by Tami Lehman-Wilzig: A small Torah is passed from a Dutch rabbi to a Bar Mitzvah boy during the Holocaust, to the first Israeli astronaut and shared in this story.

Benno and the Night of Broken Glass, by Meg Wiviott: The neighborhood cat slept in sunny windows, received scraps and attention from different residents. One night that all changed when the Nazis came; windows were shattered, books were burned and Benno's Jewish friends disappeared.

Upper Elementary (4-6th Grade)

The Tattooed Torah, by Marvell Ginsburg: The rescue and restoration of a small Torah from Brno, Czechoslovakia.

I Am A Holocaust Torah, by Rabbi Alex J. Goldman: The story of 1,564 Torahs that are saved after being stolen by the Nazis.

I Survived the Nazi Invasion, 1944, by Lauren Tarshis: In a Polish ghetto, Max Rosen and his sister, Zena, struggle to live after their father is taken away by the Nazis. With barely enough food to survive, the siblings make a daring escape from Nazi soldiers into the nearby forest. What happens next?

Middle School (6-8th Grade)

Maus I and II, by Art Spiegelman: The story of Vladek Spiegelman, a Jewish survivor of Hitler's Europe, and his son, a cartoonist coming to terms with his father's story. The Nazis are depicted as cats, the Jews mice.

The Boy in the Striped Pajamas, by John Boyne: Bruno's father receives a promotion and they must move away from everyone and everything he knows. He explores for something new and interesting and meets a boy living under very different circumstances.

From Dr. Melissa Ser

Director of Education

"In every generation, it is an obligation for every person to see him or herself as if he or she personally went out of Egypt, as it says in the Torah: You shall tell your child on that day: we celebrate Passover because of what God did for me when I went out of Egypt (Exodus 13:8)."

Traditional Haggadah text

As an educator, I strive to make Judaism come alive for students. Passover is the quintessential hands-on, project-based, interactive, multi-sensory lesson. We don't read of bitterness and tears – we taste them. Charoset, our sweet "mortar," balances the bitterness of the maror dipped into it. We reenact being poor slaves through the "lechem oni" or poor man's bread that we eat for the week of Passover – matzah. When we retell the story of our leaving Egypt, many families act it out. There is no rule that says you have to sit at the table for the entire Maggid section of the Haggadah. Why not get comfortable in the family room, or if the weather is nice, sit outside on the deck? The Seder is about being free, and freedom is supposed to be comfortable.

I encourage you to find a creative way to make Passover your own – to make it YOUR story. Tell your family's story of immigration to the United States. What are we "slaves" to today? How can we become free?

Also worth mentioning: The Gateways Haggadah (Behrman House, available on Amazon) is an inclusive haggadah meant for families who have members of any age with special needs.

The winner of the scholarship will be determined by a committee consisting of Naomi & Martin Doren, their daughter Cheryl Copley, and members of the Adat Shalom clergy.

Interested applicants should forward their essays for consideration to Executive Director Alan Yost, ayost@adatshalom.org. Essays are due by April 14.

Lunchtime Learning with Rabbi Yoskowitz

2017 is a major anniversary year for many "earth-shattering" events in world and Jewish history. In this issue, cited in Rabbi Yoskowitz's column, are The Doctors Trial and the Nuremberg Code which occurred 70 years ago.

Before that, in 1917, the Balfour Declaration was issued. Recently the Palestinian Authority demanded an apology from Great Britain for issuing that Declaration. In 1947, the United Nations cast a vote which favored the founding of a Jewish state.

Twenty years later, the 1967 Six-Day War was fought and the desired destruction of Israel was thwarted by the courageous men and women of Tzahal.

Come learn with Rabbi Yoskowitz how these events of 100, 70 and 50 years ago are impacting the world in general and the Jewish people in particular at this very moment.

April 27: The Balfour Declaration 100th Anniversary

May 4: The Six-Day War 50th Anniversary

May 11: Anwar Sadat's Visit to Jerusalem 40th Anniversary

You are welcome to bring your own dairy lunch. We will provide coffee and a light dessert.

The event is free of charge. Contact Sheila Lederman to register at 248-851-5100 or slederman@adatshalom.org has commanded us?" We are commanded to tell our children the story, from slavery to freedom, as if we were there and each of us participated in the Exodus out from Egypt.

This is a daunting task, not to be taken lightly. Please check page 4 of this issue of "The Voice" or the Adat Shalom website, www.adatshalom.org for Pesach information and assistance. We can arrange to sell your chametz, or you can participate in the siyum hab'khor the fast of the firstborn, on Monday April 10th. If you have questions on any of the "how to's," please ask our clergy, they want to help and make sure you have the most meaningful Pesach as possible.

Chag Pesach Sameach v'kasher. Wishing a happy and kosher Passover holiday to us all.

FROM HAZZAN GROSS (continued from page 3)

but the prayer for water continues in another form in order to ensure that the land in Israel remains fertile.

Tal is a beautiful example of a piyyut, a liturgical poem. It is a reverse alphabetical acrostic, meaning that each phrase begins with a letter of the Hebrew alphabet, but in reverse order. In addition to being a literal prayer for dew, Tal is also a prayer which alludes to the end of exile and the rebuilding of the city of Jerusalem. This prayer therefore functions on two levels: the agricultural level, connected to the end of the rainy season, and the religious level, connected to Pesach — the holiday of freedom and redemption. The beautiful melody of Tal is only heard on this one day of the year and I encourage you to experience it on the morning of April 11, the first day of Pesach. Even though many of us won't be at the ocean this Pesach, our prayers during this season of freedom will be riding high on the waves of Tal.

Chag Sameach!

better human world, more efficient, more moral, more beautiful-could be established." Nazi doctors were politically rational. Some German doctors disapproved but, for the most part, their disapproval was only silence. A captured German doctor, Gustav Wilhelm Schuebbe, (Time Magazine, May 7, 1945, p. 35), casually admitted to the U.S. Army questioners that as the head of the Nazi Annihilation Institute at Kiev, he himself had killed 21,000 people who he deemed as "unworthy to live" during the nine months that he had worked there.

Medicine in 1930s Germany was considered to be of the highest caliber, so much so that during the Third Reich, the future great American heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey, was sent there by his mentor, Dr. Olton Ochsner for a surgical residency. As Dr. DeBakey wrote on May 16, 2008, "there was simply nothing in the United States comparable to the prestigious universities in Germany."

Under the Third Reich, German physicians were influenced to eliminate "useless" human beings by America's eugenics movement which was very popular in both the United States and Germany until its consequences were seen in the horrors of the Holocaust. Hitler read and studied the American Madison Grant's book on eugenics, The Passing of the Great Race, while in prison in 1923 and referred to Grant's book as "my bible." Madison Grant was a close friend of Theodore Roosevelt and other American leaders.

In 1989, bioethicist Dr. Arthur Caplan organized the first major conference to study the abuse of medicine during the period of National Socialism in Germany. He collected transcripts of the presentations made during the Minneapolis conference and compiled them in a book called When Medicine Went Mad. We must continuously be vigilant so that medicine never goes mad again.

Sometimes these people are found and freed, but often have nowhere to go. If they were kidnapped as children they have no skills, either vocational or social. Law enforcement does an extraordinary job of locating these victims, but it is up to us to help bring them back into the community.

I am so proud of a number of Adat Shalom members who have gotten involved in a wonderful project called Sanctum House which I urge you to support(www.sanctumhouse.org/).

This is their mission:

"Sanctum House is a safe home for survivors of human trafficking to heal and rebuild their lives. Our program not only offers shelter, it is a 24 month program of personal development and education for women 18 years of age or older. Through our outreach program we will continually bring awareness to the community and anticipate reaching younger trafficking victims helping them to see that there is hope for a successful future "out of the life."

"There are more than 30 million slaves in 163 countries in the world today. Human trafficking is an illegal activity that includes force, fraud or coercion.

Our educational and spiritual programs will bring calm to what may have looked like no future, to one that thrives. We are collaborating with other agencies to work in tandem creating emotional support, identify and treat health issues, financial training, and social programs to build self-confidence, teaching skills and giving training from where they start through personal assessments."

On Passover we say, avadim hayinu, we were slaves, but now we are free. It does not say, I was a slave and now I am free. We must work toward making sure that all who are enslaved can live freely.
