SCHOLAR IN RESIDENCE

DR.

DR. BENJAMIN GAMPEL

NOVEMBER 14 & 15

BENJAMIN GAMPEL will be making his third visit to Adat Shalom. In the past he has shown an amazing ability to draw in people of all ages and engage them in learning and discussion in a vibrant and passionate way.

The Dina and Eli Field Family Chair in Jewish History at The Jewish Theological Seminary, Dr. Gampel is an author and teacher specializing in the history of the Jews of the medieval and early modern world. He earned his doctorate from Columbia University. For his first book he spent almost a year in Spain researching in the local archives. After much painstaking work compiling materials for this project, he was able to recreate some of the long-forgotten history of the Jews of the Iberian peninsula. Dr. Gampel returned to the Spanish archives and has just completed As If the Jews Had No Lord: The Riots in Castile and Aragon and the Royal Response, 1391-1392, which examines the riots and forced conversions of 1391 in the Iberian peninsula and the effects of those events on the course of Sephardic history.

In addition to his scholarship, Benjamin Gampel is known as a stimulating teacher and delightful lecturer on the whole range of Jewish history. He has addressed synagogue and lay groups, organizations of all stripes and scholarly conclaves. Truly an energetic scholar and teacher, Dr. Gampel is among a small group of educators dedicated to bringing the history of the Jews to a wide public audience.

"Dr. Gampel makes the people of history seem alive today, and helps us understand the historical implications of our own day." – Rabbi Aaron Bergman

Messages

Great minds think alike! Don't be surprised to find more than one reference in the messages below to our Jewish tradition of expressing thankfulness each morning when we wake up! Happy Thanksgiving to you and yours!

FROM THE PRESIDENT IN APPRECIATION

ROM THE MOMENT WE WAKE UP each morning, giving thanks is an integral part of Judaism. As I reflect on the past months of Jewish holidays and look forward to Thanksgiving, there is so much for which to be thankful.

prayers and services of the season. It was evident that significant time and effort was put into creating an intellectually stimulating and emotionally spiritual experience for all generations at Adat Shalom. FROM RABBI YOSKOWITZ WHO ARE THE MACCABEES?

THE MACCABEES, also known as the Hasmonean dynasty, are associated with the heroism of the Jewish People. Jerusalem and the very existence of the Jews were threatened in the second century B.C.E. by Antiochus IV, a man whom historian Simon Montefiore calls "the most infamous monster since Nebuchadnezzar" (Jerusalem: The Biography, pp.64-65)

RABBI YOSKOWITZ

In 166-164 B.C.E., Judah Maccabee led a revolt against the Seleucid control over Jerusalem, a revolt that Antiochus IV, the Seleucid leader, did not take seriously. In fact, Antiochus IV had left Jerusalem, traveling east trying to conquer Iraq and Persia. He ordered his viceroy Lysias to crush Judah and his followers. Judah defeated Lysias. Antiochus then canceled the terrorism against the Jews, a terrorism similar to the one being inflicted on Christians and on others by a current group calling CONTINUED ON PAGE 12

FROM HAZZAN GROSS EVERY DAY IS THANKSGIVING

ET'S FACE IT, mornings can be rough. I don't know about you, but the first thing I tend to say when I hear my alarm sound in the morning, is "Just five more minutes!" Our Jewish tradition, however, urges us to say "Thank you" instead.

The first phrase that we are encouraged to say upon waking is: Modeh/Modah ani l'fanecha, melech chai v'kayam, shehechezarta bi nishmati b'chemla. Rabbah emunatecha. "I am thankful to You, living and sustaining King, for restoring my soul within me in compassion. Abundant is Your faithfulness." This prayer of gratitude for being given life for another day can be found at the very beginning of every siddur; however, it is not part of the synagogue liturgy. This is something to be said at home, even before getting out of bed.

FROM RABBI BERGMAN I AM THANKFUL...

THANKSGIVING OCCURS once a year on the American calendar, but every single day on the Jewish one. The words "I am thankful" are the very first things we are supposed to say as soon as we wake up in the morning. In Hebrew the words are Modah ani for women and girls and Modeh ani for men and boys.

RABBI BERGMAN

I will admit that saying those words so early in the morning did not come naturally to me. I am not really a morning person and I would occasionally have other thoughts pop into my head when the alarm clock went off at $6\ a.m.$ I won't share them, but you can guess. You may have had similar ones.

Very often the first thought we have in the morning affects our attitude the rest of the day, even if the day itself is objectively fine. If our thoughts reflect our crankiness we will probably turn a perfectly pleasant day into one of deep disatisfaction. If we wake up with a sense of gratitude, then even a difficult day can be better.

I am not talking about being grateful during those days when something tragic or terrible occurred. Being angry and upset are legitimate feelings and I would never tell someone to fight them or feel that they are inappropriate. Living gratefully in general, though, makes it a little easier sometimes to get through those difficult times.

I mean developing an attitude of gratitude during just a regular and normal aggravating day. A lot of things go right even during a not great day. You are alive. You probably woke up in a comfortable bed in a decent place to live. You had something to eat and clothes to wear. There may have been some unpleasant or uncomfortable moments, but if you look over your day it was probably just a small actual percentage of an otherwise fine experience. When we are grateful for these moments we enjoy even the good

FROM RABBI SHERE PLAY BALL!

RABBI SHERE

THERE IS A STORY about Reb Schneerson in which a bar mitzvah boy comes to visit him for a blessing. The Rebbe asks the boy what he likes to do. The boy tells him that he enjoys baseball and that the previous week he and his father had been to a Dodgers game. When the Rebbe asks about the game, the boys tells him, "By the sixth inning, the Dodgers were losing nine-to-two, so we decided to leave." The Rebbe asks him, "Did the players also leave the game when you left?" The boy is surprised by his question and says, "Rabbi, the players can't leave in the middle of the game." When Reb Schneerson asks the boy to clarify, the boy says, "There are players and fans. The fans can leave when they like – they're not part of the game and the game could, and does, continue after they leave. But the players need to stay and try to win until the game is over."

As the boy is leaving, the Rebbe gives him the following blessing, "In Judaism, you can be either a fan or a player. Be a player."

One of the most beautiful things about Judaism is that it makes us aware of and grateful for the present moment. Our vast liturgy is full of prayers that connect us with the past or look optimistically toward the future, but the ones dealing with the here and now are most easily overlooked. Our lives are very busy, frequently stressful, and it seems that there are never enough hours in the day. During our recent Yom Kippur healing service, someone mentioned that one thing they want to work on in the new year is to just "stop and smell the roses." Recognizing the beauty right in front of our eyes is frequently easier said than done because of human nature to always look to the next moment, the next event. The highlight of the month of November for most people is Thanksgiving, one day of the year to come together with loved ones, to recognize the good things in life (and most importantly to overeat and then fall asleep on the couch watching football!).

This Thanksgiving Day, and every day beyond, I urge you to be inspired by the message of the Modeh ani prayer when you wake in the morning. Even if you may feel like you are waking up on the wrong side of the bed, at least you will be acknowledging your gratitude for the greatest and most tender gift of all – the gift of life.

Are you looking for a meaningful volunteer experience with your kids? Thanks to a group of adults that are passionate about volunteering, we are dedicating Sunday, November 16 to community service projects for all ages.

Let's put the words of Rabbi Hillel into action. He taught, "Do not separate yourself from the community or tell yourself, when there is free time, I will study or volunteer, etc. It is possible that you will not have the free time." $Pirke\ Avot\ 2:5$

Research suggests that when families engage in community service together it has important positive outcomes for everyone involved. It benefits: • Children by cultivating positive values, such as Judaism's emphasis on helping others • Parents and grandparents by giving them more quality time with their children • Families by increasing their sense of cohesion and connections to the broader community • Adat Shalom by bringing new energy to traditional volunteer opportunities.

MEN'S CLUB HAPPENINGS

BY GEORGE!

By George Dickstein

Road Rally Ressurection...

when my family joined the shul in 2002, one of the highlights of each year for me became the Adat Shalom Road Rally. Every year, my wife and I would team up with one or two other couples, jump in the car. and attempt to track down the clues at each spot, winding up at a final destination with dinner and drinks with many friends. After 2008, the road rally was put on hiatus. Last year, the men's club attempted to resurrect the event without success. After some positive feedback from the other affiliates and members, we are bringing back the road rally this year.

The rally will be November 15th starting at Adat Shalom. The event has already been planned with a final destination. All we need is participation from our community. Young Adults, Empty Nesters, Sisterhood, Men's Club, Clergy, Staff – the whole Adat Shalom family is invited!

This is a synagogue event, not just a Men's Club program. We have made the clues easier, made the rally shorter (approximately 90 minutes), and are working to keep the price down. Watch for your flyer, and plan to join us on November 15th!

- Coming up on the Calendar -

In addition to the road rally, the Men's Club stays busy as always. We will be having our first breakfast speaker of the year on Sunday morning, November 2, when we'll welcome Jason Lurie, an American who has served in the IDF. This event is free for Men's Club members. On November 16th, come say hello as we will be helping with Adat Shalom Vounteer Day. Our December calendar includes our annual Chanukah Sing-Along and Latke Party on December 14 and our annual Family Movie Night on December 24th with an optional Chinese food dinner. Check your Men's Club emails, synagogue mail and weekly congregational emails for further details on all of these events.

YAD EZRA DELIVERIES

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 11 AM - 12:30 PM

We will need volunteers to make Yad Ezra deliveries on Sunday, November 9, This involves driving to Yad Ezra and picking up YAD EZRA groceries to deliver to four or five clients in the area. The groceries are packed along with mapquest directions and you are on your way! This service is greatly appreciated by those who cannot pick up their food at Yad Ezra. It's an activity for the whole family. If you can participate in this mitzvah, please contact Martha Zinderman at 248-207-0612 or email marthazinderman@me.com

Thank you to everyone for participating in our Yom Kippur food drive. The generous support of our congregation helps Yad Ezra continue its important mission to provide food to those who need it in our community.

HOPE HOSPITALITY & WARMING CENTER THURSDAY, DECEMBER 25 - SUNDAY, DECEMBER 28, 7 - 10 PM

Hope Hospitality and Warming Center is a safe overnight shelter for the homeless in Pontiac. Without this center, many individuals would be living on the streets at great risk. On several evenings in December each year. Adat Shalom volunteers serve a warm, nutritious meal in a caring atmosphere to approximately 50-60 men and women who stay at the warming center. Many of them have spent the day on the streets and are grateful for this safe haven for a few hours. They are very appreciative of our kindness. The meals are prepared in advance, reheated and served at the facility. We will need 6-8 volunteers, over the age of 18, each night. Volunteers may carpool to the center. We need your help with this worthwhile project. Please call Evva Hepner, 248-798-7673, if you are able to help.

In addition to providing dinner, we would like to collect men's white athletic socks to donate to the center. In a recent letter, Elizabeth Kelly emphasized the importance of socks to the homeless population. Most are forced to sleep with their shoes on to prevent them from being stolen. This need is especially critical during the winter months when frostbite is a real threat. Changing socks, something we take for granted, can save lives. A box will be placed in the main office area to collect your sock donation.

AND WE'RE OFF TO THE FRIENDSHIP CIRCLE...

We greeted our first group at Friendship Circle's Weinberg Village on Monday, October 20th. The students look forward to their time in the village and are learning important life skills. We are always happy to bring new members into our Marvelous Monday group. Please contact Leslie Magy, 248-723-6542 (h), 248-514-4179 (c) or, lesliemagy@gmail.com

This month, as we mark the Global Day of Jewish Learning on November 16, I'd like to invite you to use this as a spring-board for learning throughout the year - and ultimately make Jewish learning a life-long activity. Our sages tell us that learning leads to positive changes: in Pirke Avot 1:6, Joshua ben Perachyah says, "Get yourself a teacher, find someone to study with, and judge everyone favorably." So too does Rabbi Ben Bag Bag (Pirke Avot 5:25) say: "Turn it (Torah), and turn it, for everything is in it. Reflect on it and grow old and gray with it. Don't turn from it, for nothing is better than it."

At Adat Shalom, we have many opportunities for engaging continued Jewish learning for adults at all levels. Take part in one or several, and let us know what else we can offer in 5775.

A Message from Melissa Ser Director of Congregational Learning

- LEARNING COMMUNITY UPDATE -

We are so pleased with the way our Hebrew learning is progressing this year. As a school community, we are utilizing online learning to supplement our classroom progress, as well as working in small groups with dedicated Hebrew teachers within every single classroom. All students are working on improving their reading skills, their prayer knowledge, and their spoken Hebrew abilities too! In many synagogues around the country, students do not begin learning to read until fourth grade. Here at the Learning Community, by the end of first grade most of our students recognize the entire Hebrew alphabet, Havdalah means separation, blessing over the wine, smelling sweet spices, feeling the warmth of the glowing candle and talking about the difference between the holy and every day, between light and dark, the people of Israel and all others, Shabbat and the rest of the week. Havdalah can be very special as we go from dark to light, from the quiet of Shabbat to the music of the week.

I'm very excited to invite you to join us at Havdalah and Hayride on November 8 as we journey to Bower Farm in Bloomfield Hills. We will meet there at 6:15 p.m. for a musical Havdalah led by Lisa Soble Siegmann. We'll enjoy the aroma of herbs from our Mitzvah and Mishnah Garden. Please feel free to also bring your favorite herbs or spices for Havdalah (cinnamon, cloves and rosemary are popular choices). Be prepared for a bonfire, s'mores, a hayride, a craft and snacks. We have been very fortunate to receive a grant from the Mandell L. and Madeleine H. Berman Foundation and can now offer this fantastic program at no charge! Space is limited – please call to RSVP today!

If you have had the opportunity to join us at the Bower School Farm in the past or have been there on your own, you know that it is a great place to visit and will be even more amazing with friends. Questions or to register – please contact me.

FROM RABBI YOSKOWITZ

itself Islamic State (IS). In Persia, Antiochus suffered an epileptic fit and fell dead from his chariot.

The Maccabees have become famous among Jews and non-Jews.

The Maccabees have inspired Israel. Many Israeli sports teams, especially soccer and basketball teams, are named after them. Recently a Maccabiah competition was held in Detroit. Jews have regarded the Maccabees as freedom fighters against a genocidal tyrant, a precursor along with Amalek and Haman, of Hitler.

The Maccabees became the medieval prototype for Christian chivalry. In the 12th century, Richard the Lionhearted promoted himself as a latterday Maccabee. Later, Rubens painted Judah the Maccabee, and Handel wrote an oratorio dedicated to him.

Who were the Maccabees? In a recently published book, A Jew Among Romans: The Life & Legacy of Flavius Josephus, Frederic Raphael writes, "An undercurrent of glamorous (and glamorized) rebellion runs through Judean history." He describes the Maccabees as good and as wicked, not a totally glamorous picture of them.

The complexity of great stories from the Jewish past, including the Chanukah story, holds no terrors for Simon Schama. The title of his most recent book published last year and the PBS 10hour Chanukah series is "The Story of the Jews: Finding the Words: 1000 BC-1492 AD." He tells us a story – not a history – of the Jews and why "words" are so important to Jews. Did the Maccabees fight to preserve the Jewish "words"? Why did Antiochus IV try to destroy the Jews and their words? Were the Maccabees dedicated to preserving Judaism? If so, why? What, based on historical facts, is the "real" Chanukah story?

In preparation for Chanukah, we will conclude our last Tuesday Fall Book Review series on November 25, by reflecting on Schama's latest book and will try to answer the question, "Who Are The Maccabees?"

things even more.

I spent several months training myself to wake up with the thoughts "I am thankful." When I went to bed I would tell myself over and over again, "Okay, Bergman, when you open your eyes, or try to open your eyes, think thankful thoughts. If it doesn't work tomorrow, it will the day after tomorrow." After six months I got pretty good at it. Not perfect, but pretty good. I found that the people around reacted to me more nicely because they sensed I was less tense. They were grateful for my gratitude.

This sounds like a very small thing, but it can have a huge impact in how your live your life. It is not a miracle cure for your problems, but it will give you strength, perspective and equanimity in facing life's challenges and greater appreciation of its joys.

information packet and Sisterhood Cookbook was an appreciated gesture.

During each service, the Torah processionals were long because so many congregants were eager to greet and compliment our clergy. Our choirs were outstanding. They are comprised of volunteers who practiced for months to help enrich our experience and encourage our participation. Our teenage Torah readers chanted so beautifully, followed by impeccable Haftarah readings. Hazzan & Lauren Gross's son Max brought delight and a smile to all of our faces as he sang L'dor V'dor. As the Aliyah Committee extended honors, the ushers' greetings were warm and welcoming.

Our building sparkled! After much polishing, organizing, and setting up over 2500 chairs between the Main Sanctuary and Social Hall, the pride that our maintenance staff took in their work was evident. The office staff efficiently responded to requests, always maintaining enthusiasm.

It has been gratifying to see the positive results of congregants connecting with one another. We received so many kind comments, emails, letters and phone calls. Our annual Yad Ezra Food Drive and donation collection was, as always, impressive, demonstrating our concern for those less fortunate. We recognize that not all have a bounty of food for a sukkah or a Thanksgiving meal.

I thank those of you who have responded to the Yom Kippur Appeal, recognizing the need to always be prepared for capital improvements. If you have not yet responded, it is never too late. Your contributions support our intent to replenish the endowment funds used to improve the parking lots, driveways, and landscaping. Our goal is 100% participation. The Executive Committee and Board of Trustees have pledged to lead by example. My hope is that you will feel good about contributing at some level and that you will know that all contributions are appreciated

In the spirit of thanksgiving, my thanks to our clergy, staff, leadership, congregants and guests for helping to ensure that 5775 began with thoughtful and meaningful prayer and a sense of community in our congregation. May your Thanksgiving be a continuation of introspection, taking time to pause and be together with those you love... whether it be cooking, eating or watching football.
