MESSAGES

FROM THE PRESIDENT, SANFORD VIEDER

It is with great humility that I write this first of many articles for the Voice as the president of Adat Shalom. The warm wishes and notes from many members "rooting me on" as I embark upon this new position are greatly appreciated. As so many of you know, Adat Shalom has truly been a second home for me for all of my 56 blessed years on this earth. It all began when I was just 8 days old and celebrating my Brit Milah (Bris) front and center, in the daily minyan chapel of the original Adas Shalom Synagogue building on Curtis near Livernois. Now I certainly have no direct recollection of that momentous day, but having been told the myriad of stories from many members who were actually present on that day in April of 1962, I certainly can conjure up a vivid picture with the details that were shared. I wonder if my parents, Gitta and Larry, of blessed memory, would have ever thought that 56 years later, that infant would be elected to lead the congregation as its president. Perhaps?

FROM HAZZAN DANIEL GROSS ALBERT EINSTEIN'S JEWISH IDENTITY

There is no denying that the great Albert Einstein had a deep connection to his Jewish roots. Born in Ulm, Germany, to a non-observant family, Einstein actually attended a Catholic elementary school; however, by the age of twelve, he had developed an interest in Judaism. This led him to begin keeping kosher, a short-lived endeavor, as the more he studied the sciences, the more he felt a contradiction to his traditional Jewish beliefs. Although he ultimately ventured away from a quasi-observant lifestyle, he never lost his Jewish identity, which can be demonstrated through his own writing.

After Chaim Weitzman, Israel's first president, passed away, Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion asked Einstein to be the successor. Einstein respectfully declined, saying:

I am deeply moved by the offer from our State of Israel, and at once saddened and ashamed that I cannot accept it. All my life I have dealt with objective matters, hence I lack both the natural aptitude and the experience to deal properly with people and to exercise official functions. I am the more distressed over these circumstances because my relationship to the Jewish people has become my strongest human bond, ever since I became fully aware of our precarious situation among the nations of the world.

Another captivating fact is that Einstein was scheduled to deliver a speech on Yom Ha'atzmaut for the 7th anniversary of Israel's independence, which was to air on all the American television networks. Unfortunately, prior to the broadcast Einstein became very ill, but was able to pen the following from his hospital bed:

The establishment of Israel is an event which actively engages the conscience of this generation...It is, therefore, a bitter paradox to find that a State which was destined to be a shelter for a martyred people is itself threatened by grave dangers to its own security. The universal conscience cannot be indifferent to such peril.

FROM RABBI AARON BERGMAN GRATITUDE FOR TEN WONDERFUL YEARS

I grew up in Oak Park, and even though I did not grow up at Adat Shalom, I always knew what a great synagogue it was. It was known for being traditional and innovative, large but welcoming. I never thought, even when I was a rabbi, that I would someday be part of it.

This is an even better synagogue than I imagined when I was on the outside looking in. I have been blessed to work with wonderful colleagues, lay leaders who are truly committed to serving the Jewish people, and a terrific staff who keep the shul going day after day. Most of all I have been blessed with the best congregants a rabbi could ask for. You are devoted to Judaism, our people, America and Israel. You demonstrate that it is possible to live meaningful Jewish lives and be loyal citizens of this country. You are compassionate and generous and kind.

July 1st is my tenth anniversary at Adat Shalom. I am so profoundly grateful to be a rabbi and the mara d'atra of this extraordinary congregation.

There is not a better synagogue anywhere. I look forward to many years together, filled with joy and meaning. May we go from strength to strength.

FROM RABBI RACHEL SHERE A MATTER OF TIME

As schools let out and the sun-drenched hours of day stretch out into the evening, I often feel a subtle, yet significant shift in my relationship to time. It starts with the desire to take off my watch and let the kids linger by the pool long after we would all normally be getting ready for bed. The wearing of wrist watches is a somewhat recent phenomenon. A New York Times article from July 1916 describes how, prior to World War I, Americans joked about the British trend of wearing bracelets with clocks and called them "a silly a** fad." War, with its need for explicitly timed and coordinated attacks, is what turned a European fashion trend into a mass-marketed American reality.

I recently heard a lecture by author David Steindl-Rast in which he shared that the Chinese word for "busy" consists of two characters – heart and killing. With stress-related illnesses on the rise, the ancient Chinese characters for time make a whole lot of sense today. It's not only our bodies, however, that suffer from our society's chronic addiction to business; our souls wither as well. In Greek, there are two words for time, kronos and kairos. Kronos is the root for the English word chronology and refers to quantitative sequential time. The word is derived from the violent Greek Titan god Kronos who, when angry, devoured his own children. Kairos refers to the space between measured time, the moment, and is of a more qualitative and enduring nature.

Now that summer is upon us, perhaps we can all think about ways to shift the balance of kronos and kairos in our lives. I can't help but think that something meant to aid soldiers in the trenches of war has inadvertently created a culture in which overscheduling runs our lives. And it is our children who are at risk of being devoured.

Offering you nourishment for your mind, body
& spirit

ADULT LEARNING

Jodi Gross, Director of Adult Learning

From Michael Wolf

Director of Spirituality and Outreach

I recently watched a Ted Talk given by psychologist Susan Pinker. She went to the Italian island of Sardinia which has more than six times as many centenarians as the mainland and ten times as many as North America. According to Pinker, it's not a sunny disposition or a low-fat, gluten-free diet that keeps the islanders healthy – it's their emphasis on close personal relationships and face-to-face interactions. Pinker suggests that we need close social bonds and uninterrupted face-time with our friends and families in order to thrive—even to survive. Pinker quoted a study done by Julianne Holt-Lunstad, a researcher at Brigham Young University. Dr. Holt-Lunstad studied tens of thousands of middle-aged people looking at every aspect of their lifestyle: their diet, their exercise, their marital status, how often they went to the doctor, whether they smoked or drank, etc. She recorded all of this and then she and her colleagues sat tight and waited for seven years to see who would still be breathing. And of the people left standing (insert drum roll) the most important factor is social integration. This means how much you interact with people as you move through your day. How many people do you talk to? And this means both your weak and your strong bonds, not just the people you're really close to, who mean a lot to you, but, do you talk to the person who every day makes you your coffee? Do you talk to the postman? Do you talk to the woman who walks by your house every day with her dog? Do you play bridge or have a book club?

Which got me thinking of adding another question – Do you come to morning minyan and stay for breakfast? I used to think it brings meaning and spirituality to your life – but after watching the Ted Talk, I learned that it can actually add years to your life as well! Hope to see you soon.

RONALD MCDONALD HOUSE

Thanks to all who participated in helping to provide the meals for the families staying at the Ronald McDonald House in Detroit – the Bradford, Strauss, Portney, Colton, Warner, Slovis, Weiss and Randel/Lapin families. Once again, Linda Warner and friends Carol Salzenstein and Lois Winer went down and baked on site. The smell of warm brownies, cupcakes and cookies created such a comforting atmosphere. The families were so appreciative that during this difficult time “someone is taking care of them.” The tentative next date is Sunday, July 29, 2018. We are considering a barbeque.

YAD EZRA

We delivered groceries to homebound participants of Yad Ezra. Thank you to Bobby Blum, Martha Zinderman and Al and Debby Katan for making the deliveries.

A special thank you to Martha Zinderman for coordinating the Yad Ezra deliveries for the past 7 years. She has made sure that “rain, sleet or snow” the groceries were delivered. She will be stepping down and will be sorely missed. If you would consider coordinating this program, please contact me. The next scheduled date is Sunday, August 26, 2018.

While on the recent Adat Shalom Synagogue 2018 trip to Israel, we had the unique opportunity to visit Yad LaKashish. Everyday at Yad LaKashish, hundreds of low-income elderly men and women come to work in a variety of artistic studios. There they create hand-crafted, beautiful, professional quality Judaica and gifts, which are then sold in their gift shop. The quality of their work is remarkable and the variety of their production is unbelievable. Yad LaKashish provides Jerusalem's neediest elderly, 70-90 years young, with the life-affirming feeling that they are still active and productive members of society. Mainly immigrants and Holocaust survivors, they receive social, emotional and financial support.

Visiting the gift shop, Beverly Yost and I decided that we would rather spend our money there where we could get beautiful souvenirs from Israel and support a wonderful program at the same time. We wanted to do more. We inquired how we could share this experience with our Adat Shalom congregation and found out that we could sell their products in our gift shop!

We have created a photo album to share the experience with you. Please stop by the gift shop and see pictures of these artists hard at work creating their products and pictures of some of the results of their work. Watch for these items in our gift shop this fall!

THE LEARNING COMMUNITY

JEWISH FAMILY EDUCATION

Family Education programs are endowed in memory
of Jeanette & Oscar Cook

This has been an incredible year and we have learned so much together. As the Jewish Family Educator, I shake things up in the school. I take a classroom that runs smoothly and I 'disrupt' its usual routine. Parents, students and educational staff have been wonderful about trying new things and being open minded.

Throughout this year we have had the opportunity to learn ethics through Pirkei Avot (the Ethics of our Sages), the origin of and meaning of our Jewish names, Gratitude through Attitude, Shabbat, Blessings and so much more. We have integrated Hebrew, art, music, and ritual throughout these programs, bringing parents and grandparents into the classroom to learn with their students. We truly become a Learning Community through family education. Take a peek at what we've accomplished this year.

L'Shalom,
Debi

First grade parents learn with Rabbi Shere about the origins of names and what they mean. Then their students learn why they were given the names that they carry today and create a name keepsake.

Students in our second grade class, with a parent and/or grandparent, studied Pirkei Avot (Ethics of Our Sages) and learned that for anything to last, a sound foundation is needed.

Adat Shalom-Beth Achim Learning Community Highlights

We are very excited for the coming academic year! New students are invited to join our amazing learning community (easy registration from the Adat Shalom website), and returning students are automatically enrolled. If you would like to schedule a time to discuss your child's learning, please be in touch. We are happy to meet or speak during the summer.

When classes begin on September 16, 2018, we will already be in a brand new year on the Jewish calendar, 5779. The first day of school ends with an Open House for parents to visit the classrooms, meet our teachers, and learn about curricular highlights of the year before a Tefillah and welcome back assembly in the Main Sanctuary. We end the day with a back to school BBQ!

An amazing day at Adat Shalom celebrating with friends on the last day of school.

PATHWAYS FOR TEENS / דרכי נוער / DARCHEI NOAR

YOUTH ENGAGEMENT

I have spent the past year completing an action research Master's project in Jewish Educational Leadership at JTS, attempting to answer the question "How can I develop a Jewish teen curriculum driven by students' genuine interests?" At the completion of this study, I have some interesting results -- all of which are part of developing our ongoing Jewish educational opportunities for teens.

Adat Shalom truly has an engaged Jewish teen population which cares about both their own education and the community's well-being and growth. In total, 70% of the Jewish teens at Adat Shalom are regular participants in Jewish education and/or engagement. The teens surveyed were overwhelmingly in favor of regular Jewish learning. They asked for more education, more points of connection, and more depth. Furthermore, they want to be part of the development process. Asking the teens for their input and evaluations throughout the year led to a process of ongoing research, as well as a plan of action for the coming academic year. Teens' interests reflected a wide range of content areas, and included topics related to social connectivity, family, life skills, and personal goals. In addition, teens expressed interest in serious Jewish knowledge, especially in how to connect it to issues and concerns of the modern world.

Overall, teens want quality Jewish education but also have very limited time. They want to develop trusting relationships with their teachers. These positive relationships provide the backdrop against which teens can feel comfortable asking difficult and challenging questions about Judaism, relationships, and their own personal growth. An example of this occurred when students asked if we could rename our program (at least for an evening) "Couches and Conversations" and just ask me all of their Jewish knowledge questions! For ninety minutes that is exactly what they did; questions ranged from "how do we celebrate Shavuot?" and "why isn't chicken pareve?" to "how do I know if I've met the right person?" It was powerfully telling that the students were not embarrassed to ask their questions and were respectful of each other. We had succeeded in creating a trusting, safe learning community. We are excited to welcome new students to join us.

Sisterhood

A heartfelt thank you to Joyce Weingarten, Trudy Weiss and Beverly Yost for their leadership, dedication and devotion to the Sisterhood of Adat Shalom over the past number of years. We also would like to thank all the past and future committee chairpersons for volunteering their time in order to plan, organize and facilitate so many Sisterhood programs and events.

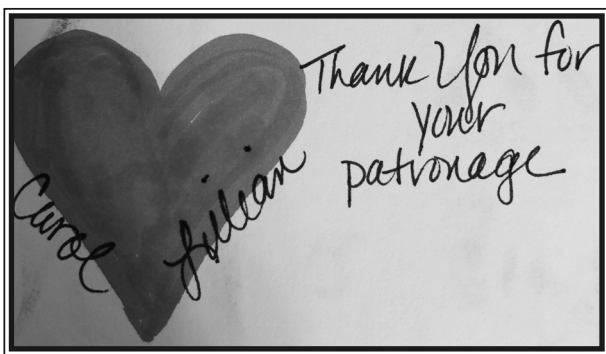

As we take over the leadership responsibilities, we will continue to further the spiritual and social interests of Adat Shalom members. Just as the general membership has increased, we are hopeful that Sisterhood Membership will likewise increase and that more members will become involved. We want our members to continue to feel welcome and comfortable when volunteering and will work to achieve this. We will begin by updating our membership roster and have ideas to enhance the dissemination of Sisterhood information. We also plan to reach out to our membership to provide a good understanding of the role of Sisterhood and the programs that we sponsor as part of Adat Shalom.

Please feel free to contact us with any questions or concerns. We look forward to working with each of you.

Einstein died the following day after refusing emergency surgery.

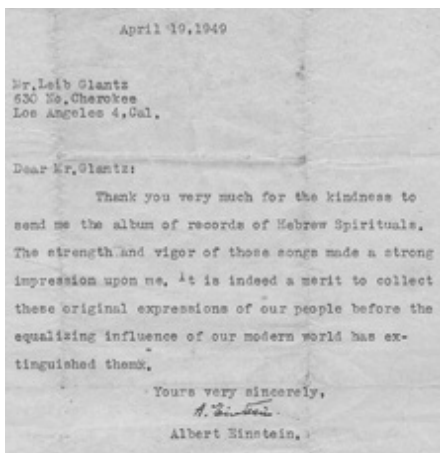

Lastly, I'd like to share a letter Einstein wrote to Cantor Leib Glantz, one of the great cantors of the Golden Age of Hazzanut. It was said that listening to Glantz's rare and uniquely beautiful voice was like experiencing a man talking directly to God. Einstein sent the letter to Glantz on April 19, 1949:

Dear Mr. Glantz:

Thank you very much for the kindness to send me the album of records of Hebrew Spirituals. The strength and vigor of those songs made a strong impression upon me. It is indeed a merit to collect these original expressions of our people before the equalizing influence of our modern world has extinguished them.

Yours very sincerely,
Albert Einstein

Composed in the aftermath of one of the greatest tragedies of mankind and just one year after the founding of the State of Israel, Einstein's prescient statement is just a small indication of his brilliant mind and proud passion for his Jewish identity. We must never forget his powerful message and continue to preserve and cultivate our unique culture and customs. May Albert Einstein's words and accomplishments continue to inspire us all!

MEN'S CLUB

MEN'S CLUB MUSINGS... BY JOEY LEBOVIC

April elections brought a slate of new and veteran members to the 2018-19 Men's Club Board. Yasher Koach to outgoing President Alan Chandross, his entire Board, and our Trustees for their work in delivering dozens of meaningful programs over the past 2 years.

The Men's Club of Adat Shalom is a place where, over decades, men have gathered for camaraderie, learning, and service to the synagogue and our community. We offer a rotating variety of programs designed to appeal to all of our members' interests, including the wildly popular Steak & Sports Night, Daddy-Daughter Dance, and Men's Jewish Studies.

We currently have about 130 members and are among the most active clubs in the country. By becoming a dues-paying member of the Men's Club, you enable us to continue as one of the most active affiliates in the synagogue, supporting Housing the Homeless, Religious School programs, and Volunteer Day.

I am looking forward to collaborating with the newly elected Board and Trustees to continue our long tradition of successful programs and events. The Men's Club provides you with a way to meet other synagogue members and the clergy in a smaller, informal setting. Please give us a try and contact me with any questions.

Thanks again to our newly elected team:

TIKKUN ADAT

IT'S A BABY BONANZA!

Baskets of goodies for eight brand-new babies and their parents were in abundance as Charmley Levine's assembly and delivery crew got to work recently. And they'll be ready for the next delivery June 10.

Let's explain: The good-sized baskets – filled with items for Shabbat and beyond – are a gift from Adat Shalom to the happy families who let us know that the blessed event occurred.

The deliveries are an Adat Shalom tradition and have been for a number of years.

Items in each basket include a classy baby bib, a full meal for mom and dad (yes, for an older sibling, too), Shabbat candles, grape juice and helpful information to breeze through baby's early days.

Who were those lucky eight? George Leon, son of Rachel and Jeffrey Schostak; Ari Gavi, son of Stacey and Danny Yashinsky; Ronan Lafayette, son of Jennifer and Steven Schostak; Bella, daughter of Larisa and Dmitry Belski; Anna Rose, daughter of Amy and Seth Stern; Benjamin David, son of Semonna and Jared Matz; Emerson Maxwell, son of Mallory and Matthew Shiffman; Noah Abraham, son of Sarah and Matt Licavoli.

Suzanne and Josh Flanders, Emma Moskovitz and Avi Moskovitz, Lillian and Lee Schostak and Charlotte Dubin worked with Charm on assembly and delivery.

Is there a blessed event in your family, too? Let Charm know at charmleyL@hotmail.com.

THE CHALLAH CURE

"Dreidel Mom" (the pseudonym for Adat Shalom's secret challah mitzvah maker) has her delectable Shabbat breads available at no charge if someone is ill or in need of a home-made cure. To reserve a loaf, call Rabbi Shere's office at Adat Shalom, 248.851.5100. If needed, delivery can be arranged.

FRIENDS MAP CREATIVE EVENTS

Visits to two celebrated Detroit icons are planned by the FRIENDS Day Trippers for their next outing on June 22, 10 A.M. to 2 P.M.

Pewabic Pottery, a ceramic studio and school founded in 1903, is known for its iridescent glazes, some of which grace notable structures, including the Guardian building. The 104-year-old Belle Isle Aquarium, designed by noted architects George Mason and Albert Kahn, was the oldest continually operating public aquarium in North America until its closure in 2005. It has reopened under volunteer supervision.

To join the Day Trippers and to ask about car pooling, contact chairs Jeannie Weiner at weiner.jeannie@gmail.com, or Margery Jablin at mjablin@yahoo.com, or call Jodi Gross at Adat Shalom, 248-851-5100. Space will be limited, so let them know how many are interested.

And for movie lovers...

On August 5, it'll be lights, camera, action for Adat Shalom film goers as FRIENDS Movie Group chairs Jan Goldfarb and Diane Lebovic take their next trip to a local theater.

Jan and Diane welcome new participants to the group, who'll be invited to join in the discussion and refreshments after the film.

For information, contact Jan at jgoldfarb22@aol.com, or Diane at dlebovic@ameritech.net.

Each month we list birthdays and anniversaries of those congregants who have given us the dates of their "special occasions." If you would like to be listed in this column, please notify Susie Steinberg at ssteinberg@adatshalom.org

If your family has celebrated a birth or a wedding, or if you have received a special honor, please let us know that as well.

It is my hope to explore, recount and celebrate the rich history of Adat Shalom over the next year, as we prepare for the multitude of 75th anniversary celebrations we are planning in the coming months. I have the privilege of being the president of this great congregation beginning in our diamond anniversary year, with an incredible amount of gratitude about our success and deep inspiration about our future and the critical role Adat Shalom plays within the Jewish community of metropolitan Detroit. I also look forward with great optimism about our growth and continued success, but realize there is much work to be done to secure our next 75 years and ensure that our children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and generations to come will continue to find an Adat Shalom with robust programming, the best clergy in the country, and financial security.

As our incredible team of professional and lay leaders begin the work ahead, I ask that you please share any memorabilia, photographs and stories so we can create a most memorable 75th anniversary. Please reach out if you have any items to share from our past (I promise they will be returned in good condition!). There will be more details forthcoming about the events planned and the opportunities I hope every member will take advantage of not only to enjoy, but to also actively participate in. Collectively, it is all of our membership that leads to all success and reaching new goals.

I want to thank all of our amazing, dedicated clergy, professional staff, office staff, building staff, executive committee and board of trustees for their support, and entrusting me with the privilege and responsibility to serve as president, in addition to their unyielding commitment to Adat Shalom. I have very large shoes to fill of our outgoing president, Ken Goss, and all of the previous past presidents, who have skillfully led our great congregation for so many years. Ken has been an inspirational leader and I am fortunate to have him by my side moving forward, along with the executive committee members who volunteer countless hours to the fiduciary oversight for our congregation. We are also extremely fortunate to have the continued operational leadership of Alan Yost, who frankly makes the executive committee's job so much easier.

On behalf of my wife Carol, my children Brandon & Meryl, Alex and Nikolas, we wish you a very healthy and happy summer and look forward to many celebrations ahead!

Humbly,
Sandy
