75th ANNIVERSARY

"From the beginning, the concern of our Synagogue was Family - individual families and the greater family of the membership. Some fifty-two members formed the nucleus of the future's potential and applied to the State of Michigan for a charter." (Commemorative Journal, 50th Anniversary of Adat Shalom Synagogue)

And 75 years later, Adat Shalom Synagogue is unique among Jewish congregations. We're a warm and friendly congregation with many young families. We take a contemporary look at our congregants' needs and priorities, place a strong emphasis in the continuity of clergy, and offer a wide range of programs for individuals and families of all ages. While staunchly committed to Israel and to our Jewish brothers and sisters everywhere, we remain focused on our more than 1000 member families throughout the metropolitan Detroit area.

We are looking forward to the next 75 years with great optimism. Planning is underway to celebrate the past and prepare for the work that is to be done to ensure that future generations will continue to experience robust programming, extraordinary clergy and a financially secure Adat Shalom.

Please join us...

We are kicking off the momentous occasion of Adat Shalom Synagogue's 75th anniversary with a very special commemorative weekend.

In honoring our past and looking forward to our future, you are invited to join us Friday evening, October 26 for a special Shabbat-Appella and Oneg Shabbat where we will recognize our synagogue past presidents for their contribution to Adat Shalom. On Shabbat morning our Men's Club and Sisterhood past presidents, our multitude of affiliates who all contribute so much to Adat Shalom, and the board members of Memorial Park will be acknowledged.

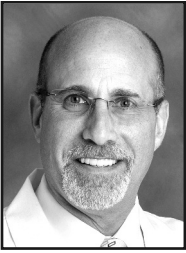

Shabbat will be a wonderful reunion to include clergy from previous years, old friends from your pre-school days at Adat Shalom, your confirmation class, clubs you participated in, classes you attended, and other programs. Morning services will be followed by a Kiddush lunch. We invite you to bring your family and be our guest.

We look forward to seeing you. Call the synagogue office at 248.851.5100 or email Alan Yost directly at ayost@adatshalom.org with your planned attendance.

Rabbi Aaron Bergman

Sanford Vieder, President

MESSAGES

FROM THE PRESIDENT, SANFORD VIEDER A DIAMOND IN THE ROUGH

On October 8, 1943, Erev Yom Kippur, a handful of men comprising the original founders of our congregation made the decision to move forward and create a new synagogue. Over the next year, a nucleus of 52 members applied for the official charter which was granted by the State of Michigan, ultimately being named the Northwest Hebrew Congregation. On September 20, 1944, the first annual election of officers was held. Our first president, was Alexander Moss. In short order, the interest and enthusiasm of this new congregation grew rapidly, leading to the need for a new, larger building to accommodate all the activities and families that were joining. In August of 1946, Rabbi Jacob E. Segal was approved by the board of directors to become the first spiritual leader. Over the past 75 years, Adat Shalom has been fortunate to have some of the very best clerical leaders in the country. That tradition continues today with the leadership of Rabbi Bergman, Rabbi Shere and Hazzan Gross. We also recognize the many families that now have third and fourth generations as members at Adat Shalom. Adat Shalom is certainly rich in history and now it's time to ensure it is rich in its future.

As we embark upon the celebration of our Diamond Anniversary, there is so much to be thankful for and a multitude of wonderful stories to be shared from our remarkable history. There have been difficult financial times throughout our history, but I am happy to report that we are collectively in a very good place as we begin our 75th year. The executive committee and professional leadership hope that all of you will join us for the beginning of our yearlong celebration, the weekend of October 26. It is our hope to create several memorable programs through the entire 75th anniversary year.

FROM HAZZAN DANIEL GROSS DIAMOND JUBILEE CONCERT

At the end of October, we will be celebrating Adat Shalom's 75th anniversary. The weekend festivities will culminate on Monday, October 29, with a "Diamond Jubilee" Concert (the diamond being the gemstone associated with a 75th anniversary). Your invitation should already have arrived in the mail. The concert will feature, in addition to myself, 6 gems of the Cantors Assembly:

Jack Mendelson, Cantor Emeritus of Temple Israel Center in White Plains, NY, a larger than life individual who has starred on the bimah and screen, and who continues to be the most influential cantor in my life;

Alberto Mizrahi of Anshe Emet Synagogue in Chicago, hailed as the "Jewish Pavarotti," he has admirably represented the Conservative cantorate internationally through both concerts and recordings;

David Propis of Congregation Shaarey Zedek, who has recorded many wonderful albums, who always gives a thrilling live performance, and who is the producer of the CA and USCJ's series of CDs entitled "The Spirit Series";

FROM RABBI AARON BERGMAN BECOMING LEONARD BERNSTEIN

2018 is the centennial year of Leonard Bernstein's birth. It is hard to imagine American music without him. He was so talented and influential that it is hard to imagine that he was just one person.

He was a great composer, writing classic musicals like West Side Story, and moving symphonies like his Third, known as the Kaddish Symphony.

He was a great conductor, bringing energy and passion to other musicians and even reviving the appreciation of another great Jewish composer, Gustav Mahler.

He was a great teacher. His writings and television shows taught generations of young people to understand and love classical and modern music, and even jazz.

He was a great friend, encouraging others to meet their potential and to expand their musical and cultural knowledge. People much older and much younger were drawn to him, because his spirit was ageless.

Given all these talents, he almost did not become a musician at all. This is from an article from the New England Historical Society:

Sam wanted his eldest son to join him in his increasingly successful hair product business.

Lenny attended the prestigious Boston Latin School, where he excelled academically. He graduated from Boston Latin in 1935 and entered Harvard, where he majored in music. His father still wanted him to join him in his hair products business. Lenny wanted music.

FROM RABBI RACHEL SHERE SUKKAH WALLS OF SHELTER

The first day of October marks the end of the holiday of Sukkot. Going out to live in a sukkah, a dwelling that will be here today and tomorrow but gone in a week is, our sages teach, a way to face the fragility and impermanence of life. Sukkot forces us to embrace the reality that nothing in life is for certain; all that we have today could be gone tomorrow. And yet, Sukkot is called Z'man Simchateinu, the time of our joy. At this time of year, we build a space that is naturally open and welcoming to friends, family and strangers alike.

There is a large segment in the Talmud about materials that can and cannot be used as sukkah walls. One of my favorite lines in this section reads, "It is kosher to use a friend as one of the four walls of your sukkah" (Shulchan Aruch, Orach Chaim, 630:12.) In order to make sense of this, we must understand the purpose of the sukkah walls. According to the Talmud, the walls are there to create a temporary shelter from the dangers of the outside world.

As we see everyday in the headlines, the events of our world unfold erratically and unpredictably. Yet this law about the sukkah walls teaches an important truth. In a world filled with terror and tragedy, human beings are here to be each other's shelter. We are here to help one another respond to brokenness with bravery, and to loss with love. Long after we have taken down our sukkot, may the holiday's poignant message find a permanent home in our hearts.

We are honored...

Rabbi Bergman is participating in a unique mission to Israel. October 15 - 18, he will be part of a small select group of rabbis invited to engage constructively with influential Israeli leaders.

This mission is based on the premise that American rabbis who are committed to pluralism and the unity of the Jewish people can and should play a positive and constructive role to create greater understanding and to help close the gap between Israel and the United States. They will have a unique opportunity to delve deeply into a variety of issues and communicate suggestions and concerns to people in Israel who are in a position to make a difference. There will be frank, open and honest conversations with opinion makers and leaders to foster greater understanding on both sides of the Atlantic. The goal will be to hear each other in a constructive rather than a confrontational, antagonistic or adversarial way. Rabbi Stuart Weinblatt, President of the Rabbinic Cabinet of the Jewish Federations of North America, who extended the invitation at the suggestion of Ambassador Dermer, stated that "I have received assurances that (schedule permitting), we will have private meetings with the Prime Minister and President, as well as with key members of the Knesset and others in influential positions."

Ambassador Ron Dermer, the Israeli Ambassador to the United States, nominated Rabbi Aaron Bergman to participate in this mission being coordinated with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. A small, select group of rabbinic colleagues were invited to join this important leadership mission to Israel to explore ways to create a deeper understanding between Israel and the North American Jewish communities.

In his invitation to Rabbi Bergman, Rabbi Weinblatt continued, "At this critical juncture in our history, it is incumbent upon rabbis who believe the goal of achdut is important to work to bring our communities together, not to divide or exacerbate the gap between them. If we do nothing, the divide between these two great communities could deepen and become insurmountable.

This mission is not for everyone – it is for rabbis who are motivated by the principles of clal Yisrael and ahavat Yisrael. It will require open mindedness which will transcend allegiance to any ideology, organization or movement. Such an approach will thereby allow us to identify those common values which unite us and will serve as the guide to a path of greater cooperation and facilitate unity without uniformity. By identifying what unites us I hope we will strengthen the foundation upon which a positive relationship can be built and thereby help to close and bridge the gap, or at least do what we can so that it does not become greater.

You have been nominated to participate in this special mission because you are recognized as someone who is open to listening and to engaging in dialogue in a respectful and constructive manner and as one who can make a significant contribution to the discussion. At the conclusion of our mission, we will discuss potential future actions.

I sincerely hope you will be able to participate."

Rabbi Bergman eagerly responded that he would be attending. We are honored that he was recognized by Ambassador Dermer as a rabbi committed to the process and qualified to make a difference.

From Michael Wolf Director of Spirituality and Outreach

On Simchat Torah we read publicly the last verses of the Book of Deuteronomy. Then we immediately begin to read the Torah once again from Chapter 1, verse 1 of the Book of Genesis. Thus, we demonstrate our unending obligation to study Torah and to draw continuous inspiration from the living words of our sacred Scriptures. Judaism is vitally concerned that we serve God with heart, soul and might. But it has been no less insistent that we also serve God with our minds – with minds that stay open and keep growing.

As we grow older it is very tempting to develop a permanent mindset. But minds, like parachutes, are valuable only when open. As long as we keep our minds open and alert, as long as we are willing to try a new skill, entertain a new thought, develop a new friend, surrender an old prejudice – so long do we remain vital people, so long do we gain ground and move forward in the search for more abundant life.

This past year I challenged myself to meet with 100 people to learn what they are passionate about with their time. This year I would like to meet with as many members as possible to share my passion of learning.

- Want to learn how to lead a service?

Sunday, August 26 we delivered groceries to homebound clients of Yad Ezra. Thank you to Charlotte Dubin, Dennis Phillips, Charmley Levine, Sy Warshawsky, Cindy Posen and Marcia Garland for picking up and delivering the groceries. Without this home delivery the clients would not be able to get their groceries.

Yad Ezra opened its doors in 1990 with the purpose of providing kosher food to needy Jewish families. Starting with serving 250 families, they now provide an average of 1,300 families with food, health care items and household goods every month. In addition, they distribute appropriate foods to help enhance the clients' celebration of every Jewish holiday. Thank you to everyone who supported the Yad Ezra Kol Nidre food drive. You make a difference in helping them to achieve their vision of "A Jewish Community Without Hunger."

Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, and Sukkot may be behind us, but we are still in celebration mode as October starts off with Shemini Atzeret and Simchat Torah. Our celebration includes singing and dancing with the Torah as a community, and starting the new cycle of Torah reading anew.

In Pirkei Avot (Sayings of our Fathers), the sage Shammai taught "Say little and do much" (1:15). As we begin a new year I want to start with these words of wisdom from our tradition: It is not always necessary to explain what your intentions or plans are, but rather to just do the right thing. More action; less talk about action. Be a good person. Offer a pencil to the student next to you without one, let the driver on the expressway merge in front of you, invite a family without community to your home for Shabbat, a movie or game night. Both small and grand gestures - whatever you are able to do - help make the world a better place.

L'Shalom,

EDUCATION UPDATE

Opening Day

Our opening day on September 16 was an incredible success, with smiling faces filling our halls, an opening assembly and Consecration of our new students, and an all-school celebratory Family Fun Day! It was wonderful to see all of our families reconnecting after a long summer break, and we look forward to new opportunities for relationship-building, learning, and celebrating together!

Parent Committee

Parents who wish to get involved should contact Amy Newman (amynewman2010@gmail.com), head of the Education committee.

Nosh & Drash

This month, Nosh & Drash students (grades 8-12) will explore Jewish views of leadership. We are looking forward to deciding what makes a leader, and how we can discern both good leadership skills and incorporate them into our lives. Any 8th through 12th grader is welcome to come check it out! Classes meet on October 8, 15, and 22; on the 29th, teens will join the congregation as we celebrate Adat Shalom's 75th Anniversary with a Diamond Jubilee Concert.

What's new and exciting this year?

Hebrew Immersion for our younger students (Pre-K through second grade) is taught through a wonderful program called Hebrew Through Movement. This research-based approach follows the same process we do when we first learn a language: first we understand, then we speak. Students will develop familiarity with Hebrew vocabulary well before they begin reading the words on paper. Thus, instead of decoding Hebrew later on, they will be reading.

Second grade is using a new (to us) approach called Aleph Champ. Designed originally for Chabad Hebrew schools, this program is built like a Karate belt system, and students progress from "white belt" to "black belt" in reading and comprehension. Our faculty is excited about bringing this approach to our introductory reading program.

Students in grades 3-6 have an opportunity each week to choose a specialty area to explore. Third and fourth graders have chuggim, electives, on Sunday mornings; fifth and sixth graders have them on Wednesday afternoons. For six weeks at a time, students can choose to delve into such choices as Jewish Drumming, Choir, Art, Drama, Modern Conversational Hebrew, Book Club, and more.

Want to receive general text reminders and information about the religious school? Text the message @asbalc to the number 81010. That's all there is to it!

Interfaith Teen Program - Youth United

Adat Shalom was a proud community partner of the Youth United teen volunteer program in August. Our teens joined teens from other faiths to help C.A.R.E.S (Community Action Resources Empowerment Services) of Farmington Hills.

A message from Todd Lipa,
Director of C.A.R.E.S. of Farmington Hills

Great Job!!! I will not be able to say it enough to each and everyone of you, but here is the first one, Thank You!! It started with one person's idea and found energy through many caring and loving people. Each committee member and teen volunteer has shown me once again why C.A.R.E.S is so important to making a change in our world.

One person's dream led to many people expanding on it to now seeing it come to life. We are not only changing and helping the guests that come to C.A.R.E.S, but each of our lives will be changed because we have chosen to help someone else. In many cases by helping others we also end up helping ourselves even more.

God Bless each and every one of you!!!

Since becoming Sisterhood Co-Leaders a few short months ago, we still are asked "Why Sisterhood?"

Seventy-five years ago, when Adas Shalom was established, the role of the Sisterhood ladies was nothing more than preparing Shabbat and Holiday Kiddushes. When we were growing up, we never gave much thought to Sisterhood. Honestly, we thought it was something limited to only long-term shul members. This isn't the case any more! You won't find Sisterhood members just in the kitchen. With time, Sisterhood has changed and continues to evolve as our membership needs have changed.

In fact, our Sisterhood seeks to bring women together of all ages, stages in their life, backgrounds, careers etc. We are all in different times of life and in our journey as women. We often forget how much we can gain from the company of other women. We are not supposed to go through this life alone.

The Sisterhood of Adat Shalom is made up of a mix of women-- single, married, divorced, widowed, working women, stay-at home moms with babies, younger and older children, and retirees. The Sisterhood is a great way to meet women and to make new friends. It also provides opportunities for:

- Personal Growth by volunteering for one or more committees and programs, participating in the very popular Rosh Chodesh Programs led by Rabbi Rachel Shere, Soulful Yoga and the Spirituality Retreats;

- Intellectual Pursuits through our Book Club, Health and Wellness programs and the Rosh Chodesh Program;

- Community Service and Tikkun Adat through our Knitting Circle that makes hats for preemies and scarves for the homeless, funds for camp scholarships for students at our religious school and provides an annual Outreach luncheon;

- Social Connections through our Paid-Up Membership Dinner and Annual Donor Luncheon; and

- Synagogue Support through our gifts to Bar and Bat Mitzvah students, our Sisterhood Synagogue Gift Shop, making and serving kugels at each Shabbat Kiddush.

We have programs designed for members of all ages, stages, interests, and religious and spiritual backgrounds.

As you may know, our Sisterhood is a branch of the Women's League of Conservative Judaism, the largest synagogue-based women's organization in the world. The Women's League helps us as women better understand our impact on promoting Judaism in the home, our synagogue, and our community. It also helps us to make lifelong connections with women in our synagogue, community, in Israel, and globally.

In this New Year, why not try something new, make connections with other women in our shul and become involved? It only takes one small step.

Tying It All Together

Ladies of Sisterhood, start looking in your closets, on shelves, or in your dressers for your favorite scarf to bring to our Paid-Up Membership Dinner Event. Your Co-Leaders are planning a delicious dinner followed by an interactive presentation. Make sure you have circled Wednesday, November 14th, on your calendar for this upcoming event. Watch for more information about this in the upcoming November Voice.

If you have not received the Sisterhood 2018-2019 membership trifold, please call the Synagogue to request one. We ask that you fill out the membership form along with your dues payment. We hope that all the ladies of our congregation will be able to say they are an active part of our Sisterhood!

Men's Club

MEN'S CLUB MUSINGS... BY JOEY LEBOVIC

The Men's Club of Adat Shalom is starting off the New Year with a bang. Our membership drive is in high gear, and our efforts to engage men in their 20s and 30s is off and running. Go to www.adatshalom.org/mens-club-dues/ to join or renew if you have not done so already. Membership is only $36 or free if you joined Adat Shalom in 2018.

In October we have two perennially popular opportunities to socialize with fellow members in a smaller setting. At Steak & Sports Night on October 17, Associated Press sports writer Larry Lage will join us to provide the inside scoop on our favorite teams. Last year over 75 men of all ages enjoyed a delicious Ribeye steak dinner with sports radio host Pat Caputo. This event is only $10 for Men's Club members and $15 for non-members. Men in their 20s and 30s can attend this event for free. No membership required!

At Chillin' with the Clergy on October 24, local shul celebrities like Rabbi Bergman and Hazz'n Dan will join us at Craft Breww City to dazzle us with their brilliance and enlighten us with their brachas. This event is getting bigger and better every year since we moved to our new location. Best of all it's free for all paid members, and men in their 20s and 30s.

In our efforts to engage younger men we are planning some joint events with the Young Adults group, like Escape Room on November 17 and Fowling with the Hazzan on March 12. We also are working with Young Adults to learn how to make our programs more engaging to men in their 20s and 30s.

As always, please plan on attending one of our upcoming events, and feel free to contact me at jlebovic@ameritech.net with any questions or if you would like to learn more about the Men's Club of Adat Shalom and how you can get involved.

Alisa Pomerantz-Boro of Congregation Beth El in Voorhees, NJ, who is currently the president of the Cantors Assembly and who wowed the Adat Shalom audience with her performance at the 2013 “Divas on the Bima” concert;

Pamela Schiffer, Cantor Emerita of Congregation Shaarey Zedek in East Lansing, who has given charming and touching performances on the Adat Shalom bimah, the stage of the Berman Theater, and elsewhere;

Marcia Tilchin, rabbi and founder of the Jewish Collaborative of Orange County in California, who grew up at Adat Shalom, highly influenced by Cantor Larry Vieder, z”l, and who is blessed with a stunning voice.

Also, Marty Liebman, a multitasking and frequent participant in our concerts and services, will be accompanying the concert on our beautiful Steinway grand piano.

In tribute to Cantor Vieder, net proceeds of the concert will be split equally between Adat Shalom and the Cantors Assembly’s Cantor Larry & Gitta Vieder Memorial Chesed Fund. This fund benefits cantors who are in financial need, and was established after Adat Shalom’s highly successful 2010 partnership concert with the Cantors Assembly. This concert will include something for everyone – Broadway hits, songs from the American Songbook, and Jewish music of all sorts. Bring your family and friends – we’re hoping to dazzle a full house!

I encourage you to support this concert as a benefactor and avail yourself of some special perks, including premium seating and a post-concert afterglow with all of the cantors. For more information on ticket purchases and sponsorship opportunities, see page 2 or visit adatshalom.org/diamond.

We record with sincere appreciation the following generous contributions designed to maintain the programs of Adat Shalom:

RABBI BERGMAN

After graduating from Harvard with honors, he enrolled in the Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia to study conducting.

His father still pressured him to give up music for the Samuel Bernstein Hair Company. Lenny refused, returning to Tanglewood the next summer as Koussevitsky's conducting assistant. After that summer, he vowed to return to New York to seek his fortune.

On Nov. 14, 1943, he made his debut conducting the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, as the conductor had come down with the flu. He was on his way.

Much later, in 1958, his father told the New Yorker "Every genius had a handicap. Beethoven was deaf. Chopin had tuberculosis. Well, someday the books will say, 'Leonard Bernstein had a father'."

As he later said, he had no idea his son would grow up to be Leonard Bernstein.

In fairness to his father, he really did want Leonard to grow up to be happy and successful. However, it was based on his own vision of happiness.

We should think about the people in our lives and whether we are encouraging them to find and express their true gifts, and not just do what we want them to do. They may not become the next Leonard Bernstein, but they will be the best version of who they want to be, and will be happier because of it.

The diamond is an enduring jewel, many-faceted, strong and lustrous, but when first discovered requires careful attention to detail and repeated phases of cutting, shaping and polishing to achieve its final beautiful state. While we celebrate the past, it is now time for us to turn to the future, as we apply the hard work necessary to ensure the next 75 years are as fulfilling as the past 75. In the book of Numbers, there is a commandment to "place a thread of blue into the corners of your garments" – the commandment for Tzitzit. It is the reason why the color blue was selected for the background color of the flag for the State of Israel. It is also the chosen color for the logo and letterhead of Adat Shalom. That color is a significant binding color for Jews throughout the Diaspora. While the color blue may not be your personal favorite color, there is no denying how we all recognize its meaning to us as Jews and how it brings us together.

For many of our founders, the creation of Adat Shalom represented their unending will to show the world that no matter how hard evil factions of people may try, Jews will not and cannot be eradicated. The importance of Adat Shalom as a beacon of light to the community is critical. It is easy to take for granted that this great congregation will always be around and that in today's world, nothing could possibly happen to bring about its end. But is that true? Do you take for granted that this magnificent building and what it represents will always be here? While perhaps cliché, when was the last time you asked yourself "what can I do for Adat Shalom?"

Perhaps I can help you answer this very "JFK-like" question. Come to Adat Shalom and take advantage of all the incredible educational, social and religious opportunities. Come to Adat Shalom and rekindle old friendships while developing meaningful new friendships. Consider joining a committee and participate a little. Take an hour out of your daily grind and routine to learn something new at one of the many mini-classes led by our incredible clergy. Check out the website, the Voice and the "What's Happening" emails which are always full of new activities, topics and news. Plan on going on the next Adat Shalom Mission Trip to Israel. Reconsider the location of that next family simcha and have it at Adat Shalom (with the newly updated facilities and incredible on-site catering). Trust me when I say that it will provide incredible meaning and personal satisfaction knowing that your simcha was where it was truly meant to be--here at Adat Shalom!

Lastly, what kind of president would I be without urging all of you to also make a financial commitment to the long-term stability and security of Adat Shalom? After all, what Jewish organization doesn't need money? Jews must take care of Jews! That's the way it has always been and if we do not take on this responsibility, I assure you no one else will. The federal and state government will not be here to support us! Annual dues do not cover our annual operating budget. We rely upon annual fundraising and interest drawn from our endowment funds to help cover the budget deficit. In recent years, we have made significant investments into the infrastructure, modification and updating of our 46-year-old building. As a part of the 75th anniversary, we are embarking upon a capital campaign to raise $5 million for the endowment fund. If successful, we will have collectively assured the continuity of Adat Shalom for generations to come. So, I ask you to give generously toward our future. Ensure that Adat Shalom is not taken for granted and that we do not awaken one day to find it is gone. Make a statement that shows the world that Adat Shalom is important. Adat Shalom is prepared to give generously to you. Please take all that you need and please generously give back to Adat Shalom. Help polish our diamond in the rough to a brilliant glow! Trust me, you will feel great about what you give and receive!
