The Concluding Study Session with Rabbi Bergman

Jews commemorate the sparing of the Hebrew first-born sons in the Pesach story by concluding the study of a section of Jewish text the morning of the first Seder (or the previous day if the Seder falls on Shabbat). From the Middle Ages on, prominent rabbis have stated that first-born daughters should attend the siyum as well. At Adat Shalom, all members of your family, whatever their birth order, are invited to join in the Zoom (virtual) siyum.

"Selling" Your Chametz

The Torah prohibits Jews from owning chametz during Pesach. For those who wish to adhere to this tradition, Adat Shalom will be happy to arrange for the contractual (virtual) sale of your chametz to a non-Jew for the duration of the holiday. According to this contract, your ownership of your chametz will end at 9 A.M. on 13 Nisan (March 26) and will be restored at 9 P.M. on 22 Nisan (April 4).

You may arrange to sell your chametz beginning Monday, March 8, through 8:30 A.M. on the morning of Friday, March 26.

To do so, complete the form on our website:

adatshalom.org/chametz or email Michael Wolf (mwolf@adatshalom.org) with your name and address to be added to the contract. Call Michael at 248.660.5556 with any questions.

It is customary, but not necessary, to make a contribution to the synagogue for requesting that we act as the agent for the sale of your chametz. If you wish to do so, we suggest a $20 donation to Adat Shalom's Minyan Breakfast Fund.

MESSAGES

FROM THE PRESIDENT, JOAN CHERNOFF EPSTEIN

As I reflect back on what I was doing last March, it boggles my mind how things can change in a flash. I, along with my sister Cathy, had just finished celebrating with many of you at our Purim party, Missebaba. Can you imagine? Well, I guess you can! That was just one year ago and so much has changed in our daily lives.

Purim has just passed, sadly without our joyous Missebaba, but we were able to bring some sweetness into your lives with our drive-through Mishloach Manot pick-up.

Nisan brings with it what I call the Season of P's: Plan, Prepare, Participate, Passover, Purpose, Patience, being Present... the list is endless. Of all the "P's", Participation stands out as a means for all of us to come together. Your participation plays an integral part in helping our Synagogue continue to thrive. Participation brings with it a sense of unity, satisfaction, engagement, contribution, and cooperation. It helps our Synagogue become richer, more vibrant and welcoming. In return, we get a sense of belonging to something so much larger than we are individually. It's the ultimate "win-win" opportunity!

This was abundantly evident in this winter's wonderfully successful Volunteer Day Box. Over 100 congregants picked up a box full of all sorts of supplies for projects designed to help the greater community. The sheer number of volunteers, items produced by you, and organizations benefitting was astounding. Volunteers crocheted waterproof blankets for the homeless, made note cards for the residents at the Jewish Senior Life homes, packaged snack food for health care front line workers, and provided packages to mitigate the struggles of those with food insecurity. By February, all the project boxes were returned and I saw the bounty of these efforts still being distributed to a variety of area organizations. This effort was so heartwarming. It was evidence of what we are capable of doing as a congregation, with the volunteers and the recipients benefitting each in their way. It started out with a simple idea and blossomed into so much more, bringing joy to all involved. I want to applaud Jodi Gross for this wonderful idea and bringing it to fruition. I also want to thank Sammi Shapiro, and all the volunteers who contributed to making it a success. Indeed, it was a very unifying, satisfying, and engaging project.

Now we are looking forward to spring 2021, and beginning to think and plan for Passover. Last year, I was fortunate to have Passover with my children and grandchildren, who were staying with us. And my son and daughter-in-law, as well as my youngest son, had collectively decided that we would be together. But the absence of those who were not present with us tugged at our hearts: my sister, my niece and her family, and most important my parents.

All the planning and preparation we were accustomed to has changed at least for a year, but that doesn't by any means mean that we cannot participate this year in a different way that's safe for all. We continue to find creative ways to meet new challenges. At times like these, when our "normal" has been altered so suddenly, and things feel so out of control, we can center ourselves by becoming immersed in activities that support us and our anchor, Adat Shalom.

FROM RABBI AARON BERGMAN

Purim of 2020 was really the last time the whole community was able to celebrate a holiday together. Pesach of that year was the first socially distanced holiday. We were all hoping that by Pesach of this year we could go back to celebrating in person with all of our family and friends. I pray that we are getting closer and closer to that day, but it seems like we are still going to be relying on Zoom for a while.

Yizkor of Pesach is the first Yizkor service of the year, and it is the service which we get strength from each other when we remember those for whom we grieve. It is a time to come together in gratitude for the strength that our ancestors have given us, for the courage they demonstrated. Maybe not your immediate family, but the Jewish people throughout history have been remarkable for the power and character within our souls.

Yizkor is a tough time under any circumstance. We may feel broken, sad, scared, or anxious, no matter how many years it has been since we lost someone.

Passover begins with brokenness. The middle matzah. We hold it up and say "all who are hungry, come in". It is a recognition that we need each other to fulfill the mitzvah. We are all hungry for connection.

Passover ends with a different kind of brokenness. We read of the splitting of the sea, and of how it did not open until we were ready to go through it. Moses had said to Pharaoh, "Everyone comes out of Egypt, young and old, healthy and sick, men and women, boys and girls." No one was expendable.

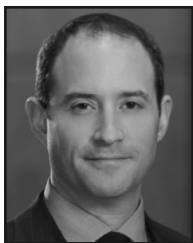

At the sea, we remembered this. We were afraid, but we went through it together. We made a miracle happen. It did not solve all our problems, but we survived and learned that we can make it to the other side of a crisis.

This is why we pray for peace at each of our services, including the Kaddish. Oseh shalom, make peace above and below. Shalom is from the word shaleim, which means wholeness.

No one person is whole. We are all broken by grief, whether it was the grief of losing a good relationship or the grief that comes from a relationship that brought us pain, or because of COVID-19 the pain of being separated physically. We are whole when we come together. The broken pieces fit together. It makes us a congregation of wholeness, literally an Adat Shalom. It is what makes the Jewish people so strong.

This Pesach, we may not yet be able to be together in the way that we would most want, but we are still together, still connected through our souls. May we all find comfort in our memories, and joy and gratitude in each other.

MESSAGES

FROM HAZZAN DANIEL GROSS
PRAYERS FOR THE VACCINE

Blessings are Judaism's way of allowing us to be aware of the present moment. They are an expression of gratitude for the many gifts we may experience on any given day. The Talmud (Menachot 43b) states that a person is obligated to recite one hundred blessings every day. In Shacharit (the daily morning service) alone there are more than forty blessings. In addition to daily blessings, there are also blessings that are recited only on certain occasions. Shehechyanu is one of these blessings: "Praised are You, Adonai our God, Sovereign of the universe, Who has kept us alive, sustained us, and allowed us to reach this moment."

Traditionally we recite Shehechyanu on the following occasions: the annual advent of a holiday; when a ritual is observed for the first time in a year; at certain life cycle events; upon arriving in Israel; and upon wearing new clothes, eating a new food or acquiring a significant possession. There are, however, many other moments worthy of Shehechyanu. Saying this blessing is a way of capturing the uniqueness of a new experience and elevating it to become a holy and memorable moment. Of the countless Shehechyanu moments in my life, one of the most powerful occurred just recently when I received the COVID-19 vaccine. Thanking God for keeping me alive, sustaining me and allowing me to reach this moment during such a precarious and unprecedented time was an emotional and cathartic experience. To also acknowledge the countless people whose continuing work in creating and dispensing vaccines that are crucial for us to get back on the road to a life of safety, trust and health, I also recited the following prayer:

בְּרוּךְ אַתָּה ה' אֱלֹהֵינוּ מֶלֶךְ הָעוֹלָם רוֹפֵא כָל
בָּשָׂר וּמַפְלִיא לַעֲשׂוֹת בְּיָדֵי כָל יוֹשְׁבֵי תֵבֵל.

Baruch Atah Adonai Eloheinu melech ha'olam, rofei chol basar umaflai la'asot bidei chol yoshvei tevel.

Praised are You, Adonai our God, Sovereign of the universe,
Who heals all flesh, working wondrously through human hands.

As we continue to make headway in testing for and vaccinating against the COVID-19 virus, I pray that you are able to find the beauty and holiness in both the big and little Shehechyanu moments in your day, and that one day very soon we are able to share these moments together in the same room.

FROM MICHAEL WOLF
DIRECTOR OF SPIRITUALITY AND OUTREACH

Why are the four questions asked as part of the Passover seder?

The common answer is that the questions are asked to involve the children and they provide the impetus for telling why this night is different from all other nights. But why couldn't this custom to involve the kids be done in the Sukkah or during another holiday?

Rabbi Chaim Meir Bukiet, z"l, taught that on Passover we celebrate our freedom from slavery. A slave is allowed no independent will, no opinion, and cannot question authority or voice his thoughts. With freedom the Jewish nation was given the possibility to ask, to question.

The idea of Passover in our personal lives is about becoming free from our internal constraints. Only by probing what Judaism is, asking and seeking more, can one become free from his or her current state, and reach a higher spiritual level. The asking of the four questions symbolizes that quest.

An early version of Ma Nishtana can be found in the Mishna Pesachim, 10:4. The Mishna there relates that after the second cup of wine is poured at the Seder, a son should question his father. The Mishna adds that if the son has "insufficient understanding" to come up with his own questions, his father can supply the questions for him, i.e. give the son Ma Nishtana to recite. The Mishna then quotes Ma Nishtana, but this version is slightly different than the modern one...I hope we can learn together why the version in the Mishna is different - along with some other rituals associated with Passover and the Seder.

We have daily learning during our 'one minute of fun' each evening during services. I hope we can pray and learn together on Zoom!

- The transition from being a people with no home to one with two permanent homes.
- The complex features of Jewish peoplehood inherent in our tradition and in our history.
- Examining contemporary forces challenging peoplehood... nationalism, antisemitism, dual-loyalty, and identity politics.
- Imagining new conceptual frameworks that can help sustain and grow the story of our people for a new millennium.
- Who are we? What does it mean to be a member of the Jewish people?

One of the highlights of this year for me has been the opportunity to work with b'nai mitzvah students and their families as they study and prepare their Divrei Torah. I am grateful to the Midwest Fellowship of the Pedagogy of Partnership, for additional teaching tools that help me teach Torah better. Pedagogy of Partnership (POP) is a comprehensive Jewish educational model that supports educators to bring Torah to the next generation. Rooted in Jewish values and practices, PoP enables learners of all ages to develop the habits of wonder, empathy, and responsibility toward others and Torah. PoP conducts professional development workshops, coaching, a fellowship program for a growing network of schools, and provides ready-to-use materials for educators, leaders and families. In this time of physical distance, the PoP approach restores relationship building to its central place in education and promotes connectivity. For the Tu B'shevat / January 2021 Journal, I was asked to contribute a Dvar Torah.

The Torah service has a peculiar arc to it: we begin with a communal recitation of שמע ישראל as we remove the Torah scroll from the aron kodesh, and following the community's reading of the weekly Torah portion, we conclude with עץ חיים היא. Of all the texts that could be chosen to bracket this part of the service, why these? And what is the relationship between these two texts? There is a clue in Taanit 17a, where Rav Nahman bar Yitzhak explains:

Why are Torah matters likened to a tree, as it is stated: "It is a tree of life to them who lay hold upon it" (Proverbs 3:18)? This verse comes to tell you that just as a small piece of wood can ignite a large piece, so too, minor Torah scholars can sharpen great Torah scholars and enable them to advance in their studies.

There is a relationship between the branches of the tree, just as between two scholars who are exploring a text together. A minor Torah scholar can ask a burning question that leads a great Torah scholar to clarify her ideas and sharpen her understanding of a text. It is their proximity - their relationship - that allows one branch's flame to ignite another. Even a strong branch can be ignited and burn alone, but it requires additional fuel to grow larger and stronger.

Nowhere is this clearer than in the episode of the burning bush. Until Moshe enters into a relationship with the voice speaking from the flames, it is just another shrub in the wilderness. Moshe, though, is astounded by this bush that burns but is not consumed by its fire, and wonders why the bush does not burn up לא יבער הסנה (Shemot 3:3). It is only at this point of wonderment that God invites Moshe into the relationship. Moshe's response of הנני (ibid. 3:4) demonstrates that he is not only physically present, but also prepared to engage in the conversation and begin learning how to lead this people.

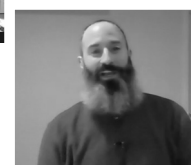

The conversation begins here and culminates at Sinai, where the mountain is alight with flames but, once again, not consumed by them. There, Moshe recounts, the voice of God had emanated from the fire (ואש אליכם מתוך האש) Devarim 4:12. And amid the fire and thunder and lightning and smoke, the people heard אחד אלקינו ה' שמע ישראל. That is, the very words that we use to introduce the communal reading of the Torah were the words that were used to introduce the Israelites to the Torah itself.

FROM SAMMI SHAPIRO

Assistant Director of Education & Youth Engagement
sshapiro@adatshalom.org

Preparing for Pesach can feel daunting. There is a lot to accomplish and sometimes including the kids can be challenging. Here is one activity that can be used in a few different ways.

Here's how to do it:

1. Choose a theme
2. Cut out circles (to make this even easier use sticky notes)
3. Label and decorate each circle to fit your theme
4. Glue the top third of each circle and place on large sheet of construction paper
5. Write facts beneath each circle

How does this work for Passover? This can be easily adapted. In my example, I went through each of the symbolic items on the seder plate. I read about each item and wrote down the facts that I found most interesting. You could have everything completed before your seder so that your kids can share about these items when you reach that part of the seder or you could have the kids write questions or facts that they hear while listening and participating in your family's seder.

This could be done for all 15 steps of the seder, the four questions, or the ten plagues.

It's always fun to try new ways to engage our whole family during this special holiday.

Dr. Melissa Ser (continued from page 8)

What do these six words mean? While the most common translation of them is "Listen, Israel, Adonai is our God, Adonai is One," the rabbis wonder about this particular word שמע: Is the obligation to say the words, or to hear them - and what is hearing? The answer: שמע (Brachot 15a) means any language in which the listener is fluent. Without fluency in the language, there is no attuned listening or deep understanding, and surely no grasping of the nuances of the text. Likewise, our communal affirmation after Sinai of שמע ונעשה indicates "we will do and we will understand" (Shemot 24:7) -- not just "we will do and then we will listen."

How do we put this all together? The small branch ignites the larger one; the student sharpens the teacher. The small burning bush is the start of the preeminent hevruva - God articulates and Moshe listens, challenges, supports, and asks for clarification. God learns from Moshe as well, implementing a process for repentance at Moshe's request (Shemot 34:9-10). From the first conversation in the wilderness of Midian to the fiery summit at Sinai, Moshe's relationship with God ignites the community's relationship with God, and Moshe in turn becomes the teacher to the masses. When we replicate that moment at Sinai in removing the Torah from the ark, we open with the words spoken out of the fire at Sinai.

The Torah requires a partner in order to be heard, to be understood, and to be grasped. We enter that partnership when we grasp onto the Torah and seek meaning and understanding. When we gather to read Torah, we acknowledge the importance of hearing and attuned listening. In reading and discussing the Torah, we bring our burning questions to the forefront. And when we close, it is with a subtle reminder from our sages that the smallest branch can ignite a larger one, and that the Torah, our Tree of Life, is ever-present למחזיקים בה (lamachazikim ba) for those who grasp onto it.

OUR ADAT COMMUNITY

SISTERHOOD

Can or Can't we do Donor Day 2021? Donor Day, honoring Joyce Weingarten, was penciled in to take place May 6, 2021. With all that has occurred since we chose that date, Sisterhood Leadership had to realistically consider whether it was feasible to have our event. We chose to take this issue to the members and get their feedback. At the Sisterhood Informational Meeting (SIM) held January 28, after considerable discussion, it was the consensus of the meeting attendees that we should not go forward on that date. As the year progresses, the possibility of having Donor Day 2021 in the fall will be re-evaluated. Please make sure you read your SisterTalk email for Sisterhood updates, information, and events.

As always, please feel free to email or call us with your input, ideas, and concerns. Remember, we are the "heart" of our Synagogue even if we have to see each other via Zoom.

Sisterhood is in the process of evaluating and restructuring.

During our January SIM meeting it was decided that we would create a survey for our current members to complete. This survey would provide the opportunity to express what direction you would like to see us take and how you would like to participate in Sisterhood. The results will help us with going forward. We will keep you updated on our progress in SisterTalk and future Voice articles.

DETROIT SAY IT "Serving Detroit's neediest with dignity and hope."

On December 23, 2020, Mitch Albom, Founder/SAY Detroit, wrote to our knitters:

Thank you so much for your help in organizing the donation of knitted hats and scarves to benefit our patients at the SAY Detroit Family Health Clinic.

As you know, our clinic serves many people, some of whom are experiencing homelessness, and the handmade items are a reminder to all that every donation and act of kindness matters.

Please pass along my sincere gratitude to everyone at Adat Shalom who assisted in the effort.

MEN'S CLUB MUSINGS...BY LON ZABACK

As we look forward to Spring, a quick look back at great memories we created this winter. A shout out to David Shevrin who along with Hazzan Gross put together the uplifting 'Adat's Got Talent' event. Our thanks to Joey Lebovic who keeps our Thoughtful Thursdays 'Zooming', and to Rabbi Bergman who is always...thoughtful. We had fun 'Hang'n with the Hazzan' who taught bible while we imbibed. A hearty Yasher Koach to Alan Gallatin and David Flaisher who organized our Men's Club Shabbat, and to the many men who participated and connected spiritually. Kudos to Dr. Bobby Blum and Dr. Roger Lewis who informed us about the latest on COVID-19 and how to promote safe and healthy living at our health breakfast.

'Thoughtful Thursdays' programming with Rabbi Bergman continues in March. Previously we discussed Israeli politics and their approaches to Judaism. Particularly interesting were insights into Haredi culture and the group's impact on Israel. We hope you'll join us on March 11 and April 22.

We're excited to host a pre-Passover Men's Seder on Zoom led by Rabbi Bergman and Hazzan Gross on March 18. The theme is 'Charting your own Exodus' as we consider our personal march to freedom. Don't miss out on our 'Nosh Box' for early registrants! Please contact Alan Chandross, achandross@gmail.com, for more information or to RSVP.

All hands on deck for our Father and Children Annual Craft Activity on April 18. This year we fulfill our Tikkun Olam obligation by restoring the benches at the Adat Shalom bonfire site. This will be a unique opportunity to bond and share in the accomplishment of creating structures that will be enjoyed for years to come. Please contact Jaron Friedman, friedmja@hotmail.com, for more information.

Adat Shalom Men's Club takes pride in providing engaging social, spiritual, and Tikkun Olam opportunities for men of all ages. Participating, volunteering, and sharing with others enriches lives. If you haven't become a member this year, please consider doing so now on our website. This is your Men's Club and you belong here. Please reach out to me for more information.

YAD EZRA

We delivered groceries to Yad Ezra clients on Sunday, February, 14. Thank you to Michael Kelmenson, Cathy Halliburton, Jack Pesis and Clara Elbinger for making deliveries.

Due to COVID-19, Yad Ezra is now a delivery-only program. In the past, most of the clients shopped in their warehouse. This has required an increase in the number of volunteers available to make the contactless deliveries. Yad Ezra does continue to need drivers. If you are interested, contact Darlene at 248.548.3663 or darlene@yadezra.org.

Future delivery dates are Sundays July 18 and November 7, 2021.

HOPE HOSPITALITY AND WARMING CENTER

The pandemic has been especially difficult for those who are homeless. In an effort to keep everyone safe and well, the clients of Hope Hospitality and Warming Center are required to spend most of their time at the center. The volunteer groups, including Adat Shalom, have not been able to prepare and serve meals for the past year. The clients have had to stagger their meal times to ensure physical distancing. This further isolates them from social interactions.

As a result of the efforts of the Volunteer Day participants, we delivered a huge amount of lunches, snacks, toiletries and blankets to Hope Hospitality and Warming Center. The lunch bags were beautifully decorated. The Hope staff were very grateful for the donation and were impressed with the amount that we dropped off. We all look forward to the time when we can go out to the center, prepare and serve the meals and talk with the clients.

LIGHTHOUSE - SOUTH OAKLAND SHELTER

We continue to be updated by the South Oakland Shelter staff on how they are providing services to their clients. Currently, they are not utilizing congregant settings. Our scheduled week for Housing the Homeless is in June. It is very difficult to predict if this will be a safe option for this year.

Acts of kindness never die. They linger in the memory, giving life to other acts in return. - Jonathan Sacks

Tikkun Adat: Sharing more than bricks & mortar

After our amazing editor invited me to submit an article for the Voice, it occurred to me that the dastardly Corona had robbed me of the voice to greet my fellow Adat Shalomniks in person!

I am NOT going to let it win. So now I have something to say: Um, uh, gee, how ya' doin' friends?

I will say this: Every morning my name shows up at Zoom minyan services led by the incomparable Michael Wolf and some terrific volunteers who, unlike me, chose to appear on camera!

But even if no one can hear my voice, I pray and sing along. I also stand and sit when I'm supposed to!

And doggone it, I feel better for being part of that terrific off-site get-together with a whole bunch of other Adat Shalomniks, some of them regulars, others because they're observing a yartzeit and still others just because they want to start the day off right.

Hey, try it, my friends!

Every now and then, I sneak into the shul to see if my seat is still there. Yup, it is. And I can't wait to be sitting in it. I also can't wait to see y'all there, too.

VOLUNTEER DAY

Spreading Kindness: Volunteer Day in a Box review

Volunteer Day in a Box was a HUGE SUCCESS thanks to the volunteer day planning committee, volunteers who helped with box assembly, pick up, drop off and sorting hundreds of worthwhile projects. In addition, over 250 kids, teens and adults completed the projects in the box along with doing extra projects in the step-by-step guide. It is exciting to see how volunteer day has evolved over the last eight years into a completely multi-generational program. This variety of hands-on volunteer projects helped many organizations in our community and Metro Detroit improve lives. Together we spread kindness in more ways than we could have ever imagined.

Volunteer Day by the numbers:

- ~ Over 25 teen and adult volunteers helped plan, assemble, put in and take out boxes and projects from volunteer's cars, sort and deliver donations to a variety of organizations throughout our community and Metro Detroit.
- ~ 115 Volunteer Day boxes were assembled with projects that were donated!
- ~ Over 115 fleece blankets were tied and donated between Building Beds 4 Kids, Hope Recuperative Center, and Song and Spirit Institute of Peace
- ~ 179 fleece scarves will keep clients of Project Healthy Community warmer this winter.
- ~ 219 dog tug toys and 384 DIY dog biscuits and over 20 pet items were donated to Michigan Animal Rescue League.
- ~ 95 books were donated between S.O.U.L Source of Universal Love and Brilliant Detroit.
- ~ 360 snack bags were decorated and filled with treats for staff at Henry Ford Hospital West Bloomfield.
- ~ Over 200 caring cards, 85 beaded necklaces for face masks and 30 facemasks were donated to Jewish Senior Life of Michigan.
- ~ 5 meal kits, 4 birthday party bags, 10 activity bags for kids were donated to CARES of Farmington Hills.
- ~ Over 200 lunch bags were decorated and filled with good food along with 100 pounds of toiletries and 1 box of socks for clients at Hope Warming Center.
- ~ 40 balls and 1 box of strands of plarn (Plastic yarn), 55 blankets, 2 boxes of food, 1 box of gloves, socks, hats for kids were donated to Song and Spirit Institute of Peace. The balls will be crocheted into sleeping mats for people who are experiencing homelessness.
- ~ 150 pounds of toiletries and 2 boxes of food were donated to Yad Ezra.
- ~ 20 colorful bracelets were donated to Project 1:2.
Hundreds of fleece pieces donated by the National Council of Jewish Woman Michigan "Wrapped in Love" project were upcycled to make the dog tug toys and chain scarves.

Volunteers shared:

My granddaughter JoJo and I had such a good time volunteering an afternoon away for those in need and deserving of kindness. Thank you for assembling everything so beautifully: projects, directions, and materials made for an afternoon filled with gratification and beyond for both of us! - Jacqui Elkus

We made the dog biscuits in a star and gingerbread boy shapes. Our grandson wanted two of them for his friend's dog. The dog loved them so much they wanted the recipe! So it's a doggie approved biscuit! - Sheri Biederman

We loved participating and it was sooo nice to see so much involvement across generations. Thank you for making this happen and for planning & organizing everything so incredibly well!! - Jackie Issner and family

Great work everyone!! So many projects to so many great organizations!! - Deborah Kolin

Adat Shalom Synagogue Tributes

ADAT SHALOM'S tribute funds provide support for our many important synagogue programs and services, which help to define us as an outstanding congregation. We have set an $18 minimum price for tribute cards.

To arrange for a tribute, please visit www.adatshalom.org/tributes, or call the synagogue office at 248.851.5100. We will process your tribute and mail it promptly.

For information about how to establish a fund, please contact Executive Director Alan Yost.

TRIBUTES

We record with sincere appreciation the following generous contributions designed to maintain the programs of Adat Shalom:
