FROM THE PRESIDENT, JOE WENER

It's somewhat hard to believe that a year has gone by since I became president of Adat Shalom. At our recent Annual Meeting, I told everyone attending that we have had a dynamic and exciting year at Adat Shalom, emerging more completely from the pandemic with more in-person attendance at religious services and programming. A lot has happened in the past year and I'd like to remind you of a few wonderful things you experienced or tell you what you may have missed so you'll be ready the next time it comes around (which may be sooner than you think!).

Our MiniMinyan Shabbat family program has been a great success with more and more young families discovering a way for parents, grandparents, and their children/grandchildren to experience the joy of Shabbat. Much like our equally-successful High Holiday family service, we are continuing to create ways for our next generation to grow with Adat Shalom. Music was also plentiful at Adat Shalom this year. We had our inaugural Lillian E. Kaufman Memorial Concert with the Stars of David cantorial recital. We also welcomed the amazing Matisyahu in partnership with United Hatzalah and the Shul Sisters as part of Hadassah's Autumn Celebration.

Our Chesed Committee has made over 300 Shabbat deliveries to date and the Green Team has planted native plants, perennial flowers, audited our energy use and, among other things, is working on plans to install solar panels on our Sollish Family Mikdash. On that note, the warm weather has allowed us to put our beautiful new outdoor facility to great use for services and programs. Both Chesed and the Green Team welcome volunteers so please don't be shy. I've heard the best way to meet people is to meet people...especially those with interests you share in common!

Speaking of groups that thrive on volunteers and participation, our Sisterhood has been a little busy this year, what with Shabbat Kiddush, Feminist Torah Study, Rosh Chodesh Study, Knitting Circle, Book Club, Chanukah gift exchange, to name a few. Watch for their next upcoming opening membership event. Last years' event included a Broadway sing-along with Hazzan Gross. Sandi and Sharon, co-presidents and two of the warmest people I know, look forward to welcoming you.

I wrote about the Men's Club in my last column but still want to mention that they will be continuing a full complement of programs and events in the coming year. Last year saw old favorites and a few new events such as Bourbon Burgers n' Brews, Chillin' with the Clergy, Thoughtful Thursdays with Rabbi Bergman, and the Men's Club Shabbat and Seder were hits. Of course, Sunday morning softball season is well underway but it's never too late to join up, as I'm sure that Jaron Friedman, in his second year as president will happily tell you!

If you haven't had the chance to visit the recently-dedicated Israel Room, where have you been? The vision of our Education Director, Dr. Melissa Ser, the Israel Room is an oasis I guarantee you'll find inspirational as well as remarkable. With features such as a Masada climbing wall, a Lego mural board (donated by our friends at Robot Garage) and other Israel-themed educational and fun activities, this is another great addition to Adat Shalom.

I'm only allotted so much room so I want to wind down with a story of my own. My daughter was recently married. The Aufruf was celebrated at Shabbat services on the day before the wedding.

FROM RABBI AARON BERGMAN

RETHINKING TISHA B'AV

One of things I hear when there are Jews in the news accused of doing terrible things is that we are our own worst enemies.

There certainly have been Jews that have done the wrong thing and should face justice. We do not, however, commit a disproportionate number of crimes, but we get a disproportionate number of accusations that these crimes were committed by Jews simply because they were Jews, and that Jews are intrinsically evil and depraved. These accusations have justified two thousand years of antisemitic violence.

I also hear the charge that we are our own worst enemies when Jews fight over Israel's policies or American politics.

I don't think this is true. We certainly argue and fight with each other, and we will never, ever come to a complete agreement on anything. Disagreement is fundamental to who we are, but we must never think of each other as enemies.

From the ancient Romans and Babylonians to Stalin and Hitler and their followers, our enemies have been those who refuse to allow the idea that Jews should live freely and safely in the world. It is not our divisiveness which led to so much destruction and loss. Even if we had been united, the results would have been very similar.

I want to think about Tisha B'Av differently from the way we have been discussing it for many generations, which has been largely blaming ourselves and our actions and divisiveness. I do not think that is healthy or fair, especially in a post Holocaust world. Nothing we could have done would have justified what happened to us. If we blame ourselves for our suffering, we are also implying that other people deserve their suffering.

Our sages say that the Holy Temples were destroyed mipne sinat chinam, because of free-flowing hate. Maybe the rabbis did not mean just the divisiveness of the Jewish people, but the hate that seems to flow between all people who feel different from each other or who have different ways of viewing the world. People hate each other and then look for a reason why.

Judaism is about choosing not to hate, not each other, and not others for being different in any way. We can hate the terrible things that people do and try to stop or change it, but we never start with hate, especially against entire groups of people.

We can detest what their leaders do, but we have to work on connecting with the followers. This is not easy. Anger is understandable, but acting out of anger is often self-destructive. Bruriah in the Talmud says to her husband that the phrase yitamu chataim min Haaretz means that sin will be eradicated, not the sinners. We must always defend ourselves, but we need to transform people, not destroy them.

This brings me to the fast on Tisha B'Av, the only one except for Yom Kippur that is twenty-five hours.

Why do the victims of hate fast and not the oppressors and perpetrators? Shouldn't our enemies fast on Tisha B'Av instead of us? We do so to remind ourselves of our humanity, for our capacity for grief and our potential for rebuilding no matter what happens. We remember our obligation to bring blessing into the world and not more hatred.

FROM HAZZAN DANIEL GROSS

TORAH ON MONDAYS AND THURSDAYS: WISDOM BETWEEN THE WEEKENDS

Mondays and Thursdays. For most people, they're just regular weekdays — one the beginning of the grind, the other a sign that you're almost free. But in Jewish tradition, these days are something more. They're days when Torah is read — sacred pit stops on the weekly road to Shabbat. So why do we chant from the Torah two additional times during the week? The answer is a delightful mix of practicality, spirituality, and a dash of divine time management.

Let's start with history. In ancient Israel, Mondays and Thursdays were market days. Farmers, merchants, and goat enthusiasts would pour into town to sell their goods, swap stories, and occasionally haggle over figs. It was peak foot traffic. Our astute sages saw this crowd and thought, "Perfect, everyone's here. Let's give them something better than a sale on olive oil. Let's give them Torah!"

But it wasn't just about convenience. The sages had a deeper concern: spiritual dehydration. They consulted the teachings of the Torah and decided that no Jew should go more than three days without hearing Torah. The Talmud (Bava Kamma 82b) references Exodus 15:22, where the Israelites have traveled three days without finding water, which led to lots of kvetching. In this context, water symbolizes Torah, as echoed in Isaiah 55:1, "May all who thirst go to the water." Moreover, according to tradition, Moses went up Mt. Sinai to receive the Torah on a Thursday and came back down on a Monday. Therefore, by reading the Torah on Mondays, Thursdays, and Shabbat, it ensures that no more than three days will pass without the community engaging in Torah's sacred teachings. Like a spiritual IV drip, it keeps the soul hydrated throughout the week. But beyond the logic and legend, there's something beautifully rhythmic about it. Just when your week starts to slip into routine – Boom – there's Torah. A story, a teaching, a reminder of something bigger than deadlines and dishes. It's like having a standing meeting with your values several times a week.

While Mondays may bring dread and Thursdays only thoughts of the weekend, our secret to making those days special are by making Torah a part of our weekly sustenance. So, the next time you attend a morning minyan in the chapel on a Monday or Thursday, know that you are participating in a centuries-old tradition designed to keep the spiritual wellspring flowing, ensuring that the lessons of the Torah remain as vital and refreshing as ever.

Bernstein and Sondheim and Schwartz, oh my! A musical journey presented by Hazzan Gross at a NCJW MI sponsored program at Adat Shalom.

OUR PLACE TO BE SPIRITUAL

FROM RABBI BLAIR NOSANWISCH

One of the practices I've been thinking about a lot lately is הַכָּרַת הַטוֹב Hakarat HaTov. It means "recognizing the good," and our tradition invites us to celebrate gratitude and accomplishment as much as we are also encouraged to be self-critical. Our annual meeting this past May gave me an opportunity to reflect on the past 12 months at Adat Shalom. I want to take a moment to share this reflection because I am simply bowled over by all the ways our community is growing in depth and in impact. I want to share a few highlights of where I have seen lay leaders take on meaningful and impactful work, and celebrate their efforts! In May our Chesed Committee had an appreciation lunch where we celebrated over 30 volunteers who have baked, packed, and schlepped challah, baby baskets, and shabbat deliveries. The Chesed Committee (led by Lauren Acker and Julie Rosenbaum) has delivered over 300 Shabbat deliveries to date and 157 since last year's annual meeting. Plans for another year of Chesed Fests are in the making. Chesed Fest is an amazing program that connects our students, their families, and our broader community who want to do good deeds in an easy and accessible format. The Green Team (led by Joyce Weingarten) broke ground on a native plant garden in front of our east entrance, audited our building energy use, and among other things they are cooking up plans for solar panels on the roof of our Sollich Family Mikdash!

In newer developments, I have worked closely with our president Joe Wener and the Executive Committee on our Forst Committee focused on a next generation of synagogue leadership (led by Kate Zenlea and Alex Shiffman), I have worked with Director of Engagement Sammi Shapiro to re-activate our Youth and Family Life committee (led by Arica Goldis), and I am working with the board and clergy team to develop a new Engagement Committee focused on telling our story and removing barriers to membership and engagement. It will launch this fall and be led by Elana Hopman.

This past spring multiple MiniMinyan families came together to cook a MiniMinyan Family Shabbat lunch which served over 50 people. Jessica Bartol, Peter Blair, David Zenlea, Jordan Fishman, and Tsiporah Blair lent their expertise in everything from table arrangements to menu planning.

While there are other things coming down the pipe, I am most looking forward to an August 2026 "Generations" mission to Israel, which will be built to serve (at least!) three generations of family who want to all be together for one unforgettable trip. This summer I am spending two weeks of July living in Jerusalem for a short sabbatical where I'll be learning with the Shalom Hartman Institute. I feel very blessed to serve our wonderful community and I hope this little bit of good news inspires you to make Adat Shalom your place to BE.

It is a tradition at Adat Shalom Synagogue to offer you the opportunity to participate in our annual Book of Remembrance. This unique book, which commemorates the memory of departed loved ones, is used during the four Yizkor services throughout the year. It contains the complete Yizkor service, a listing of all Adat Shalom memorial plaques, the names of those you wish to remember, and inspirational meditations and prayers.

Within the memorial prayer, El Malei Rachamim, it states that the worshiper resolves to contribute to a charity in remembrance of their loved one's soul. By participating in this mitzvah, you can connect "I'dor vador" – from generation to generation.

To ensure your entry in the book, please adhere to our deadline of Thursday, July 10, 2025.

TISHA B'AV A TIME TO MOURN

On Tisha B'Av we remember the destruction of the Temple and other tragic moments of the Jewish past.

8:45pm Minchah and learning with Rabbi Bergman "Rebuilding the Temple"
9:45pm Maariv and the reading of Eicha, the Book of Lamentations

In person at Adat Shalom and live stream

Hosted by Adat Shalom Synagogue in partnership with B'nai Israel Synagogue, Congregation Beth Ahm, Congregation Beth Shalom, Congregation B'nai Moshe, and Congregation Shaarey Zedek

On Tisha B'Av we mourn the destruction of the Holy Temples, but also our exile from the land of Israel and the loss of our political independence. Now that there is a State of Israel, should we rebuild the Temple? Is the Judaism we practice today an evolution of our religion or is it just a placeholder until we can return to the sacrificial system the Torah seems to demand? Would building a new Temple bring redemption or destruction? Has it been built already? We will study sources and discuss the implications religiously and politically of what a Temple would mean to us and to the world.

Living Jewishly is something we are encouraged to do with our whole heart, our whole soul, and our whole body (this is the meaning of the words of the v'ahavta: וְהָאָהַבְתָּ לַיהוָה וְלִבְךָ וְלִנְשׁוּפְךָ וְכָל מְאֹדֶךָ Deuteronomy 6:5) So many of us come to Jewish practice with a whole host of uncertainties and gaps in our knowledge. This August, I am launching a series of classes called My Jewish Day that will teach bite-sized Jewish practices that you can start incorporating into your daily life. I purposely made this class short (30 minutes!), easy to access (zoom!), and during your lunch break (noon!).

I hope you'll join me for this weekly growth opportunity focused on Jewish practice.

- Rabbi Nosanwisch

From January to June 2025, a dedicated group of learners joined the clergy to explore all the best of the Jewish tradition, from Torah to food to holidays to Israel and more during Synagogue Thrival Kit (STK).

Some of the learners wanted a Jewish learning refresher course, others were beginning their Jewish journey, while others are Jew-ish, and/or simply Jew-curious! At the conclusion of the course, this wonderful group of learners shared some thoughts...

This class was wonderful. I learned a lot. The clergy and Jodi were so knowledgeable and contributed to the spirit of the class. Also, the diversity of the class added to our discussions.

Not growing up in the Jewish community, I enjoyed the immersive lessons.

I loved and appreciated our concluding celebration and service. I had never held a Torah scroll before and I was really moved by the experience! (I think we all were.) Thank you!

If you are interested in learning more about STK, contact Jodi Gross.

Those who participated in STK were honored with a Certificate of Completion on Erev Shavuot 5785 signed by Rabbi Bergman, Hazzan Gross, and Rabbi Nosanwisch.

Experience the joy of rhythm in a welcoming and energetic environment. A drum circle brings people together for one simple reason: to have fun! But that's just the beginning — it also offers powerful benefits like stress relief, a sense of community, creative expression, and the freedom to let your spirit soar. No experience necessary — just bring your energy and an open heart!

The bride and groom had their Aliyah and the Chuppah was being prepared for the ritual when I noticed that the groom's dad, who's not Jewish, was still sitting in his seat. When I went down and took his hand, he said "but I don't speak Hebrew." I smiled at him and said "neither do I" and led him up to the Bimah, immensely touched by his expression of respect. Of the four of us holding the Chuppah, John was most affected emotionally and I knew real respect for all of us was his participation. My thanks Rabbi Bergman and Hazzan Gross (and to John and Judy for raising a mensch!).

Turning for a moment to other recent events, our lives have been interrupted and we find ourselves in a reality that few of us have ever experienced. I sincerely hope that, like me, you have found comfort within our congregation. As we once again prepare for the New Year, I remind you that this is our Place to Be, for all of the purposes that Adat Shalom is your home and sanctuary. I'm proud beyond words to be the president of our magnificent congregation and grateful for what our members, talented clergy, educators, devoted staff, and lay leaders contribute and accomplish for our shul and this community.

Finally, I want to dedicate this column to the memory of Dr. Dennis Phillips, of blessed memory, for whom the word "dedication" barely scratches the surface. Already missed. BDH.

חֲנֹךְ לְנֶעַר עַל-פִּי דְרָכּוֹ גַם כִּי-יִזְקֶינ׃ לֹא-יִסּוּר מִמֶּנּוּ׃

Proverbs 22:6

"If you educate students according to their needs, then even when they are grown they will not stray."

I think about this statement often as we open registration for a new school year. It's always so wonderful to greet new students and learn about childrens' interests, personalities, and learning styles. It's also our honor to find the right way to reach them. We want to show our students the joy and beauty of Jewish traditions, history, and celebrations in a way that will resonate with them - not only while they are with us, but for many years to come.

I am so proud of the fact that so many of our teachers and madrichim were once students in these very classrooms. They are proof that our Learning Community is the first step in a lifelong journey of exploring a vast world of text, history, celebrations, and more.

This year, students will have so many ways to grow on their journeys: hands-on exploration in the Israel Room, individualized Hebrew learning, music with Hazzan Gross, regular classroom visits with Rabbi Bergman and Rabbi Nosanwisch, cooking, holiday celebrations, and experiential, project-based learning.

I look forward to learning with you and your children this fall. It's going to be an extraordinary year.

Youth Engagement

The 8th annual Youth United Interfaith Community Service program at CARES community center in Farmington Hills in June was a grand success. Sammi Shapiro, Melissa Ser and I enjoyed volunteering with our teens in addition to being valued contributors to the team who planned and led Youth United. Rabbi Nosanwisch joined us during the faith discussion part of Youth United. Our teens had opportunities to positively represent being Jewish while exploring commonalities with teens of other faiths. One thing everyone has in common is the interest in helping others who are hungry and who have limited resources as well as organizations that support them.

MEN'S CLUB

Does the name Balki Bartakomous ring a bell? How about Larry Appleton? These long-lost cousins starred in the TV show Perfect Strangers which aired from 1986-1993. While Balki was from a Mediterranean Island called Mypos, it wasn't the plot of the show that drew me in, but the theme song.

Sometimes the world looks perfect,
Nothing to rearrange.
Sometimes you just
Get a feeling
Like you need some kind of change.
No matter what the odds are this time,
Nothing's going to stand in my way.
This flame in my heart and a long lost friend
Gives every dark street
a light at the end.
Standing tall,
on the wings of my dream.
Rise and fall,
on the wings of my dream.
The rain and thunder
The wind and haze
I'm bound for better days.
It's my life
and my dream,
Nothing's going to stop me now.
It's my life
and my dream,
Nothing's going to stop me now.

The song written by Jesse Frederick and Bennett Salvay has lyrics that are quite relevant to today's environment. Some things in this world seem so perfect, and nothing needs to change. And then sometimes all odds feel stacked against us. And we can stand tall even amongst wind, rain, and thunder.

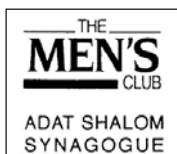

We are facing times that are unheard of. Last month, who would have thought that Boulder Colorado's peaceful demonstration on bringing home hostages would turn into a bloodbath? And this scene is happening too often all over the World. When demonstrators are faced with Molotov cocktails, it makes one want to hide. To protect oneself.

But we cannot run, we cannot hide. We have dealt with bigotry and hatred before, and we have to stand tall, on the wings of our dreams. We have to remember that our people have been persecuted for so long, but nothing is going to stop us now.

The Men's Club is planning for a great year in 2025/26 and we hope that you will join us. Become a member or renew your membership! Come to our Back to School event on the first day of Sunday School. Join a Thoughtful Thursday! We are here to stand tall. We are here to find those better days. It's your life and nothing will stop us if we stand together!

Let the Men's Club be your light at the end of the dark street.

SISTERHOOD

Adat Shalom Sisterhood Reflects on a Wonderful 2024-2025 Year

We are very proud of the Sisterhood's successful year. Our programs continued to provide many connections in learning, spirituality, and social opportunities.

Highlights of the year began with our membership kickoff sing-along with Hazzan. Our first Women's Shabbaton was a tremendous success. Our major fundraising event, Women's Day 2025, was well attended and brought people into the synagogue as well as raised money that will support Kiddush and future programming. The year included several ongoing programs that kept us engaged month after month, some of which will continue during the summer.

We are excited to announce some changes for the upcoming year. Our popular Book Club will now be known as Book Talk. Open to all and free of charge, Book Talk will offer a relaxed, informal setting to connect over great books. Coordinator Rachel Matz will announce a book and discussion date well in advance, giving everyone plenty of time to read and save the date.

Looking ahead, we already have plans for many of your favorite programs. Be sure to check The Sisterhood Calendar at a Glance, The Voice, and the weekly What's Happening so you don't miss out.

We are incredibly proud of the energy, creativity, and commitment that made this year so special. Thank you to all the volunteers and participants who helped make it possible!

It is with great pleasure that The Sisterhood of Adat Shalom announces the three winners of this year's Celia Schwartz Sisterhood Award.

And the winners are...

3rd - 5th grade: Dylan Migliore, son of Jessica & Steve Migliore

6th - 8th grade: Zoe Monson, daughter of Lindsey Kessler-Monson and Shane Monson

9th - 12th grade: Goldie Fox, daughter of Stacy and Michael Fox

The Celia Schwartz Sisterhood Award was established to provide funds for use towards an accredited Jewish experience that would enhance a child or teen's Jewish education and identity. This year's topic was "What does being Jewish mean to you and why?"

We want to thank all who participated and extend extra thanks to our judges for taking the time to read and evaluate all of the entries. We would also like to thank the staff at Adat Shalom for all of their help and guidance with this year's award.

Our esteemed winners were recognized at Shabbat morning services on Saturday, May 17, 2025.

Tsiporah Blair,
Celia Schwartz Sisterhood Award Chair

In the month of Elul (August) we prepare for the High Holidays and feel that God is closer than usual. What new questions can we ask when we feel that God "has our back"?

GREEN TEAM

On the northwest corner of Adat Shalom a true labor of love is being created. The Green Team is almost done with phase one of our new Native Plant Garden. Designed by Paul Goldsmith and planted by dedicated Adat Shalom volunteers, this garden is already growing beautiful perennial native plants which offer numerous benefits to our ecosystem. They require little maintenance, water, and chemical use, offer support for wildlife, and help improve soil erosion and air quality. Take a look for yourself when you visit the synagogue. Many thanks to the following volunteers who have contributed their time, energy, and gardening skills: David Forst, Paul Goldsmith, Roni, Lev, and Mila Leibovitch, Stephen Lipshaw, Bob Mattler, Ruben Rickman, Ben Stein, Rebekah, Ben, Lillian, and Daniel Shievitz, Joyce and Jeffrey Weingarten.

There is still more work to be done. If you would like to help with this rewarding project, please contact Joyce Berlin Weingarten at jabw57@icloud.com for creating a beautiful native garden.

SERVE AND BE SERVED - A SOCIAL ACTION GROUP

On Friday, May 16 at 9am a team from Serve and Be Served met in Pontiac and joined with Grace Centers of Hope for their "Hope in Action" project. Grace owns homes in Pontiac where their struggling clients can live. We participated in a beautifying project, weeding and mulching in the morning and then, after eating together, repainting peeling porches. Stepping back into the street we could see the transformation. All in all, a very worthwhile day!

We know many of our members have busy summers, as do we, so our next event will be in September at the Crossroads of Detroit Soup Kitchen. After that, we are looking at planning events with Lighthouse, Metro Food Rescue, and Yad Ezra, dates to be determined. If you are an interested empty nester, please fill out our survey and get on our mailing list, adatshalom.org/servebeserved. We look forward to having you join us.

It is not easy. We are all really stressed and frustrated and afraid in so many ways. This is exactly when we need to find the inner resources to hate less and to try to solve problems in the world in a better way.

We can disagree on policy, but we cannot feed into the hatred that is sweeping the world again, the sinat chinam, the free-flowing hate that is filling so many hearts. We can rise above that and help others, too. One fewer word said in anger, one more word said with patience and understanding could make a world of difference, even in our own families and communities.

Tisha B'Av, which begins Saturday evening, August 2, reminds us that we are not each other's worst enemies. We may disagree on how to accomplish it, but each of us is a partner in stopping the hatred that brings so much pain into the world, even when we are afraid and suffering ourselves.
